SALEM, O.

Observance of Decoration Day.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

SALEM, O., May 30, 1874.

Decoration Day was fully observed here to-day. The procession, composed of young ladies bearing wreaths, crosses and bouquets, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, other societies, citizens on foot and in carriages, and all headed by the Salem Silver Cornet Band, formed on Broadway at 2 P. M., and marched to the cemetery, where, after the playing of a dirge by the band, Rev. Mr. Shindle offered a fervent prayer, followed by music by the choir. Rev. Mr. Boyle delivered a very excellent oration, after which the members of the Grand Army, assisted by the young ladies, decorated the graves of soldiers, while the band performed appropriate airs. The weather was fine. A large crowd was in attendance.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

NEWARK, O., May 30, 1874.

Decoration Day was entirely forgotten here, but was handsomely observed by our neighboring village of Granville. Rev. A. S. Dudly delivered the address.

The crusaders are out this evening for the first time since last Saturday.

WASHINGTON, PA.

Observance of Decoration Day.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON PA., May 30, 1874.

Decoration Day was appropriately observed under the auspices of the Washington Guards, assisted by the ladies of this place. Houses were decorated with flags. Great numbers of strangers were in town and flowers were in great profusion.

NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Probabilities for To-day.—For New England, the Middle States and the Lower Lake Region, light rains will prevail, followed by clearing weather, southwest to northwest winds, light fall of the barometer and rising barometer. For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, clear or clearing weather during the day, north to west winds, slight fall of temperature and falling barometer.

The Illinois editorial excursion arrived in Baltimore, and will go to Washington to-day.

Decoration Day was generally observed in San Francisco. General Lagrange delivered an oration at Lone Mountain.

The steamer Baltic, with Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris on board, arrived at Queenstown last evening at ten o'clock. All well.

Governor Kellogg, will send commissioners to Washington to urge national aid in rebuilding the levees of the Mississippi river.

The steamers Parthia, Wisconsin, France and Republic, from Liverpool, and the W. A. Scholhen, from Rotterdam, have arrived at New York.

Dispatches from interior towns of this State indicate a much more general observance of Decoration Day than on any previous year.

The International Typographical Union will hold its twenty-second annual convention in St. Louis this week, commencing with to-day.

At Jefferson Barracks, fourteen miles south of St. Louis, all the graves, Union and Confederate, in the national cemetery, were decorated on Saturday.

The Grand Jury has found four indictments against Oliver Charlack and Hugh Gardner, Police Commissioners of New York, for illegally removing an inspector the day before election.

The colored people of Memphis were disturbed in their decoration services on Saturday, by some drunken rowdies of their own race, who created something very like a riot in and about the National Cemetery.

The steamer Colorado, which sailed on Saturday from San Francisco, took out a full set of astronomical instruments for Professor Davidson's transit of Venus expedition; also a car load of Gatling guns for the Mikado.

The five companies of artillery attached to the Fort Monroe school were marched to the National Cemetery near Hampton, on Saturday, by General Barry for decoration ceremonies. The graves of the Union and Confederate dead were decorated without distinction.

The first criminal trial for violating the railroad law of Wisconsin took place at Milwaukee on Saturday. The Station Agent of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad had been arrested for charging more than the legal rate for tickets. He was found guilty and fined one dollar.

The Synod of the Northwestern District of the Reformed Church of the United States, met in Louisville on Friday last. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Rev. Mr. Dickman, Galion, O., President; Rev. J. W. Brown, Indianapolis, Treasurer; Rev. A. Becker, Waukegan, Ill., Corresponding Secretary; Rev. C. Schaff, Sandusky, O., Recording Secretary.

The trial of Governor Moses for grand larceny did not take place on Friday, at Orangeburg, as announced, owing to the absence of the accused. The Solicitor of the State asked for a warrant of arrest, which the court refused. The counsel of Moses moved to strike the case from the docket, on the ground that the Governor cannot be indicted for any crime before impeachment. Decision reserved.

FORT WAYNE.

Project for Air Line Railroad from Council Bluffs to New York---Government Aid to be Solicited---Decoration Day Ignored.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

FORT WAYNE, IND., May 30, 1874.

A railroad project is afloat and creating considerable interest. Some Holland capitalists propose to introduce to Congress a petition asking for a grant to run an air line railroad from Council Bluffs to New York, passing through this city. Petitions will be circulated on Monday through this city. The railroad is to be known as the Continental Railway. It is proposed to use the right of way that was graded from Fort Wayne to Tiffin, O., by the Fort Wayne and Pacific Railway Company, which failed.

Decoration Day way entirely ignored. Business houses were all open. Not even flags was displayed.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 30, 1874.

ARRIVAL OF ROCHEFORT.

Henri Rochefort arrived at half-past seven to-night, accompanied by two fellow refugees. They declined all formal receptions tendered by representatives of French revolutionary societies and drove to the Grand Central Hotel, where they remained in seclusion during the evening.

NEW YORK, May 31, 1874.

ROCHEFORT TELLS HIS STORY AGAIN.

Rochefort kept his room in the Grand Central Hotel to-day until afternoon, making up his correspondence, and absolutely refusing an audience to any parties who wished to speak with him. Later in the day he visited the house of M. Pellitier, where he was hospitably entertained and waited upon by a few members of the French Society of Refugees "De la Commune." He still refuses to be entertained by any societies or have a reception tendered him. It is stated that during his stay in this city, which will be about eight or nine days, he will take up his quarters at the residence of M. Pellitier, in Yonkers, the use of which has been offered him. He spent the evening at the house of a hospitable friend.

The Herald publishes a communication from Rochefort, giving his version of the history of France from the first contemplation of the Franco-German war, the Communists' life in New Caledonia, and the escape therefrom of the latter. He says, "We had heard it said that sharks in their hunger assembled ordinarily in the neighborhood of the slaughter houses, which are situated not far from the Peninsula, and that, feeding plentifully upon refuse from the butchery, it seldoms occurred that they would attack a man. Oliver Pain, who was ignorant of the first principles of swimming, went energetically to work, and in one month after my arrival became one of the best swimmers on the peninsula. We then familiarized ourselves with danger by swimming in the sea for two or three hours each day. I cannot give all the particulars without compromising certain brave people who lent us their assistance. The fact is, that three prisoners, simply residents of the place, Achille Balliere, Jourde and Bastin Granthille, negotiated with an English captain, Law, of a three-masted bark. Law, fully understanding the importance of the importance of the prisoners whom he was to take on board, consented to receive and engaged to conduct us to Australia. But the peninsula was guarded much too strictly to permit him to approach it, and all that he dared promise us was to receive us if we had some means of boarding his ship, which was at the end of the roads of New Caledonia, that is to say, more than three hours from the fortified place. The journey to the English ship was the dangerous part of our escape, and we should certainly have succumbed to fatigue if our friends of New Caledonia had not saved us the longest part of the journey by coming up to us in the dark night in a whale boat, which took us in naked and all laid by the moves and rocks which cut like a razor."

CRIMINAL RECORD.

Two Murphys Lynched.

NASHVILLE, May 30.—It is reported that a white man named Murphy was hung at Courtland, Ala., last night by the citizens for outraging a white girl much younger than himself.

A man named Murphy, claiming to come from Dover, Stewart county, Tenn., went to a farmer's house in Tipton county at one o'clock yesterday afternoon and cut Mrs. Milton Donaldson's head open with an ax, killing her. He also cut great gashes on the head of a negress, a servant, who subsequently, partially recovering, gave the alarm and Murphy was caught and confessed to cutting the negress, but not to the murder of Mrs. Donaldson, but the negress identified him as the man who committed both deeds. He was shot at eight o'clock last night by the citizens, his guilt having been fully established. He murdered Mrs. Donaldson with the view of robbing Mr. Donaldson's safe, supposed to contain $7,000. The negress will not survive her wounds.

Tragedy in an Express Car.

DETROIT, May 30.—Last night, as the Atlantic express, which leaves Chicago at 5.15, was passing between New Buffalo and Niles, two unknown men pried open the front door of the express car and knocked down S. B. Heath, the messenger, who was sorting his money packages for the different stations. One of them grabbed packages containing $2,700, jumped from the car and escaped, leaving the other robber struggling with Heath for the mastery in the darkness, the candle having been extinguished. Heath finally drew his pistol and shot the scoundrel in the head and then himself fell insensible from his injuries. As the train approached Niles, he recovered sufficiently to call for help, but was unable to rise. The robber lived only a few seconds after being taken from the car.

Murder and Suicide in Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, IND., May 31.—A Journal special says that on Saturday afternoon Wm. Scott, one of the old citizens of Cannelton, Ind., while intoxicated, fatally stabbed his wife and then killed himself.

End of Murder Trial at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, May 31.—The trial of Robert Dunlap, who killed James Carpenter, was completed last night. The case was given to the jury at 9 P. M., and at 9 this A. M. the jury returned a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Decoration Day--The Clark Monument Unveiled and Dedicated--A Visit from Allegheny--Interesting and Significant Exercises.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

CADIZ, O, May 30, 1874.

Decoration Day was observed with as much interest as any. In addition to the usual exercises, was the unveiling of a monument to Colonel John B. Clark, late pastor of the U. P. Church, Stockton avenue, Allegheny city. A delegation of forty from that place were present, having arrived by special train. The monument is about twenty-five feet in height and bears the following inscriptions:

Born October 9, 1827, at Cadiz, Ohio.
Died January 13, 1872, in Allegheny, Pa.

On the left-hand side:

OUR PASTOR AND FRIEND,
JOHN B. CLARK,
Erected by his friends of the Second U. P.
Church, Allegheny, Pa., May 30, 1874.

On the right-hand side:

Pastor of the Second U. P. Church,
Allegheny, Pa., 1860—1872.
Colonel 123d and 193d Regiments,
1862—1864.

After a banquet at the Sherman House, the visiting delegation, escorted by a committee of discharged soldiers, marched to the cemetery on the hill south of the town, to the solemn tolling of bells. An oration was delivered by A. H. Norcross, as the representative of the citizens, after which Rev. T. H. Hanna, of Pittsburgh, pronounced an eloquent eulogy upon the late Col. Clark. After these exercises, the grave was profusely decorated with bouquets and wreaths. The assembled multitudes then adorned the other soldier-graves in like manner, and were dismissed with prayer. The Allegheny delegation left at ten o'clock P.M.

FIRE RECORD.

Cleveland—$21,000.

CLEVELAND, May 30.—About half-past eleven o'clock last night a fire was discovered in the planing mill of Walker, Tucker & Co., near the Central Way Mill, in that vicinity of immense lumber yards, and the fire had made considerable progress before it was discovered. The entire Fire Department was called to the scene and, after several hours' hard work, succeeded in getting the fire under control. Fortunately the night was calm; had there been any wind blowing it would have been impossible to prevent a dangerous conflagration. The losses are as follows: Walker, Tucker & Co., $10,000; no insurance. C. Sutherland & Co., $5,000; no insurance. There were several smaller losses aggregating about $6,000, with no insurance. The fire is believed to have originated in the boiler room of the planing mill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31, 1874.

Transportation Routes.

Senator Windom will endeavor to call up, some time this week, the resolutions reported from the Select Committee on Transportation in favor of new surveys for all the projected lines of water and land internal improvements recommended by the committee. Among those who will urge that the new surveys be made, is Senator Morton. He, however, does not wish to commit himself to either of the projects. The committee have confidence that their recommendation for the new surveys will be favorably acted on by Congress.

The Contested Louisiana Election Case

will come up in the House one day this week. Mr. Lamar, of Mississippi, who champions Gen. Sheridan, will urge his admission. Pinchback has made his appearance here once more. He seems to have given up all hope of securing a seat in the Senate, and would like very much now to be admitted to the House. The strong probability is, however, that the House will adopt the report of the majority of the Committee on Elections, which declares that neither he nor Sheridan was elected.

Serious Collision in the Potomac.

To prevent possible disarrangement by the jar of railroad cars, all the delicate apparatus intended for the transit of Venus expeditions was shipped hence to New York by the United States steamer Gettysburg. The Gettysburg had scarcely left her wharf here yesterday before, with what appears to be the grossest carelessness, she collided with a large steamer, the Lady of the Lake. The shock was of course much greater than the jolting of cars would have been in five times the distance between here and New York. As a consequence, the scientists are afraid that some of the more delicate instruments have been so damaged as to impair seriously their accuracy.

The Conference Committee

on the Currency bill, Senators Morton, Sherman and Merrimon, and Representatives Maynard, Farwell and Clymer, had a session of several hours yesterday, but did not complete the consideration of the bill. They agreed that they would say nothing of their action till they shall have completed their report, for which purpose they will meet again at ten o'clock to-morrow. A member of the Ways and Means committee stated this evening that he heard a report that they had agreed upon a thirty-three per cent. retirement clause. On the other hand, another member states that the committee had not reached that clause at the time of adjournment yesterday.

Bristow for the Treasury.

It is repeated with the greatest confidence in all public places to-night, that General Bristow, of Kentucky, will be the new Secretary of the Treasury. A number of leading Republican Senators have expressed the gratification his nomination would give, and in the fact that the intelligence is received with pleasure in all circles.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30, 1874.

PROSPECT OF POSTAL TELEGRAPHY.

The House Committee on Appropriations, in view of the near approach to the adjournment of Congress, notify counsel for the Western Union Telegraph Company that the committee cannot give further oral hearing on the postal telegraph question, but will consider any briefs submitted. It is not considered probable that action will be taken on the subject this session.

DECORATION OF CONFEDERATE GRAVES.

Many friends of Confederate soldiers decorated their graves with flowers brought from Richmond and elsewhere, besides a large quantity from Washington.

A REBUKE TO RITUALISM.

The Protestant Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of Maryland, in session here, refused, after an earnest discussion, 119 against 52, to permit the Church of the Holy Communion to organize, on account of its ritualistic character.

DECORATION AT ARLINGTON CEMETERY.

Decoration of graves in the cemeteries in the neighborhood of Washington took place this morning. The chief point of attraction was Arlington Cemetery, thousands of persons congregating there. The floral arrangements were more extensive than heretofore. Among the most prominent persons on the platform were President Grant, several members of the Cabinet and officers of the army and navy. After a national salute, prayer and poem, General Hawley, of Connecticut, delivered an oration. All the governmental departments are closed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31, 1874.

MISSISSIPPI LEVEES—WORK FOR THE STARVING.

It is said by Louisianians now here, that the damages to many of the levees during the late war have never been repaired, and the present flood has so ravaged the levees which were rebuilt and impoverished the people, as to render their repair and reconstruction impossible, except by national aid. It is now proposed by Senator Alcorn and others, to furnish labor to the people whose crops are destroyed, in rebuilding the broken levees to insure the next and future crops, and thus arrest the famine. Five million cubic yards of levees costing some two millions of dollars, are reported as needing repairs. It is proposed, in Mr. Marey's bill, to appoint a mixed Commission of military and civil engineers to investigate and repair a more complete plan for the control of the Mississippi river and the complete reclamation of the great Delta allunial.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY AND HER VOTE.

The House Judiciary Committee report upon the petition of Susan B. Anthony for a remission of the fine imposed by Judge Hunt, of the Northern District of New York, for alleged illegal voting, saying: "Upon the question of withdrawing the case from the jury, it would seem that the Judge himself vacillated in the trial, because he permitted evidence to be gone into on both sides as a question of fact tending to show whether the petitioner did or did not vote, knowing that she had no right so to do; but afterward withdrew the consideration of that evidence upon the fact of intention or guilty knowledge wholly from the jury, and ordered a verdict to be entered upon his own decision, without allowing the question either to be argued or submitted to the jury or the jury to pass upon it." After reciting a long array of precedents to show that Judge Hunt was in error, and arguing to the same effect upon constitutional grounds, the report concludes: "Therefore, because a fine has been imposed by a court of the United States for an offense triable by jury, without the same being submitted to a jury, and because the court assumed to itself the right to enter a verdict without submitting the case to the jury, and in order that the judgment of the House of Representatives, if it concur with the judgment of the committee, may in most signal and impressive form mark its determination to sustain in its integrity the common law right of trial by jury, your committee recommend that the prayer of the petitioner be granted, and to this end, report the following bill with the recommendation that it do pass."

SALES OF GOLD IN JUNE.

The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Assistant Treasurer at New York to sell one million and a half of gold on the first and third Thursdays each, and one million on the second and fourth Thursdays each, or five million dollars during June. There is no direction for the purchase of bonds.

CHANGES IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The indications are that the President will to-morrow send to the Senate the nomination of Col, Bristow to be Secretary of the Treasury. It is thought there will be several important changes in the Treasury Department consequent on the confirmation of Col. Bristow, who is now in Washington. The nomination of Richardson to be Associate Judge of the Court of Claims will also be sent to the Senate this week.

Decoration Day--Exercises at the Soldiers' Home--The Cemeteries Visited--The Home Libraries--Drowned in the Canal--Open Air Religious Services--Ninety-four in the Shade.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

DAYTON, O., May 30, 1874.

At an early hour this morning, our city was thronged by a large mass of people, who devoted the entire day to the decoration of the soldiers' graves. At one o'clock they were on their way to the Soldiers' Home, where an elaborate programme had been prepared and was carried out to the letter. In the afternoon a large procession formed on Main street, at three o'clock, and marched to the St. Henry Cemetery, where the graves of the fallen brave were strewn with flowers. As soon as this was completed, the procession moved to Woodland Cemetery, where the same ceremony was performed. A number of societies joined the procession, and made a fine display.

While at the Home to-day, we were informed that the celebrated Mary Lowell Putnam Library now contains 2,669 volumes, while that of General Thomas contains 5,261.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

DAYTON, O., May 31, 1874.

A man by the name of Bennet was drowned in the canal in this city this morning.

Open air religious services were held for the first time this season in front of the Court House this evening. A large crowd were in attendance.

To-day has been the warmest day this season—49° in the shade at noon.

Easy Time for Liquor Sellers--Boy Drowned on Saturday.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

CIRCLEVILLE, O., May 30, 1874.

It is reported that the Prosecuting Attorney refused to entertain charges against whisky dealers, and that the grand jury refused to send for a single witness. Over one hundred names were furnished by the Young Men's Temperance League. The Franklin county affair has its parallel here. Seventeen indictments were found, and only one liquor dealer indicted.

A little boy, six years old, named Maginniss, while bathing in the mill race, was drowned to-day.

CATASTROPHE NEAR ZANESVILLE.

Three Children Burned Alive---Their Parents Hear their Cries but can Give no Aid.

Special to Pittsburgh Press.

ZANESVILLE, May 30, 1874.

About twelve o'clock last night the residence of Robert Jones, a farmer residing about seven miles from Zanesville, was destroyed by fire, together with three of his children, aged thirteen, eleven and six. Last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Jones went to sit up with a sick neighbor leaving the children alone in the house. Seeing the house on fire, they ran to it, but all communication was cut off. The parents could hear their screams. One boy, aged sixteen jumped from the second story window and was badly injured.

THE CONSTITUTION.

Its Proposed Amendment Relative to the Election of President and Vice President.

As a substitute for the old provisions of Constitution relative to the election of President and Vice President, Mr. Morton, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections of the Senate, has offered the following proposed amendment in the shape of a joint resolution:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, (two-thirds of each House concurring therein,) That the following article is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of the Constitution, to-wit:

ARTICLE —.

I. The President and Vice President shall be elected by direct vote of the people in the manner following: Each State shall be divided into districts, equal in number to the number of Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress, to be composed of contiguous territory, and to be as nearly equal in population as may be; and the person having the highest number of votes in each district for President, shall receive the vote of that district, which shall count one Presidential vote.

II. The person having the highest number of votes for President in a State shall receive two Presidential votes from the State at large.

III. The person having the highest number of Presidential votes in the United States shall be President.

IV. If two persons have the same number of votes in any State, it being the highest number, they shall receive each one Presidential vote from the State at large; and if more than two persons shall have each the same number of votes in any State, it being the highest number, no Presidential vote shall be counted from the State at large. If more persons than one shall have the same number of votes, it being the highest number in any district, no Presidential vote shall be counted from that district.

V. The foregoing provisions shall apply to the election of Vice President.

VI. The Congress shall have power to provide for holding and conducting the elections of President and Vice President, and to establish tribunals for the decision of such elections as may be contested.

VII. The States shall be divided into districts by the Legislatures thereof, but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter the same.

At an amateur game of base ball at Hartford, on Saturday, one player had a finger broken, another his jaw broken and six teeth knocked out, and a third received a severe cut in the head which threatens fatal result.

Fire this Morning.

A few minutes before one o'clock, this morning, a fire broke out in the roof of a frame dwelling, corner of Twenty-eighth and Smallman streets, compelling a hasty hegira by the inmates. Part of the roof and second story was damaged by the flames. The loss will be about two hundred dollars. The premises were owned by Mr. Hatch, and were insured. The origin of the fire is unknown. As the big bell was not in working condition, only the gongs in the district engine houses were used in response to the alarm from box 64.

THREE BOYS DROWNED.

Distressing Casualty---Three Brothers, While Skiff-Riding, Run Down by a Towboat.

A most distressing accident occurred Saturday afternoon about three o'clock, on the Allegheny river, a short distance above the Hand street bridge. During the morning three brothers, Andrew Mehrlen, aged nine years, William Mehrlen, aged twelve, and Charles Mehrlen, aged fourteen, hired a skiff from a boat house near the foot of Seventh street, and rowed out into the river. They sported around in their light craft for some time, enjoying themselves as boys usually do, until they reached a point between the Hand street and railroad bridges. While they were sailing down toward the Hand street bridge, all unconscious of danger, the towboat L. Keefer, which had been delivering a raft on the North Side, suddenly steamed out into the stream. The little fellows saw their danger and made all haste to get their little boat out of the way, but they were too late. The steamer struck their frail craft and smashed it to atoms, and the waves swallowed its precious freight. The lads were drawn under the steamer, and perished before any attempt could be made to save them. The bodies of two of the lads were recovered in an hour or so after the accident, and they were laid side by side on a raft on the Allegheny side of the river to await the arrival of the Coroner. Hundreds of people viewed the bodies of the lads as they lay upon the raft, but nobody could identify them. On the arrival of Coroner McCallin, he had the bodies removed to Williams' undertaking establishment, on Fifth avenue, where they were identified. Their mother is a widow residing on Locust street, near Magee, in the Sixth ward. Another brother sixteen years of age survives.

Coroner McCallin impaneled a jury last evening, and examined several witnesses. William Donahoe, an old gentleman residing at No. 87 River avenue, witnessed the accident from the window of his residence, and his testimony went to show that the owners of the towboat were not to blame for the accident. He states that a skiff was immediately launched from the steamer, and that the employees did everything they could under the circumstances.

After hearing the testimony of several other witnesses, the Coroner concluded to adjourn the inquest until this evening, when the employees of the steamer will be examined.

The hands of the towboat have raised $160 for the relief of the mother, who is in rather moderate circumstances. The funeral of the two bodies recovered will take place this morning at ten o'clock from the Asbury chapel, Fifth avenue.

THE IMPRISONED LADIES.

The Effect on the Temperance Cause in Other Places.

The mass meeting in the interest of temperance is to be held at Williamsport this week, and three of the ladies recently arrested and imprisoned in this city for "crusading" will be in attendance, as will be seen from the following, which we clip from a Williamsport paper:

The following letter, from a noted worker in the temperance cause, was received yesterday by one of our prominent citizens:

PITTSBURGH, May 27, 1874.

I am doing the best I can to be in your city. If possible, I want to address your noble women in mass meeting in the largest church you have in the city. I have witnessed this most abominable treatment of the noble Christian, women of Pittsburgh. Thank God, the whisky men fired the first gun on "God's chosen Sumpter," and the effect on the other side has been wonderful—yea, more, indescribable. No time since the war has this city been so aroused. I heard one of the prominent lawyers say "at least 10,000 have been changed from whisky to temperance in the last few days." God be praised; he often uses his enemies to carry on his wonderful works. The lady crusaders, and those in sympathy with them, have increased from a few hundred to more than five thousand. To victory or to death is their determination. Mrs. Tutell said last night in a mass meeting, it was with great effort they restrained their younger daughters from rushing onward in the battle.

Never in the history of this nation has the cause of temperance been so bright as now.

Yours, in the glorious cause of right against wrong.

E. R. GRAVES.

Following this letter came the telegram below:

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 28, 1874.

Womans' Temperance Organization, Williamsport:

Court decides in favor of the ladies. Can bring three lady prisoners, if expenses are paid. Answer,

E. R. GRAVES.

The following was sent in reply:

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., May 28, 1874.

E. R. GRAVES, Pittsburgh: Bring three lady prisoners for a mass meeting Tuesday night. Expenses will be paid.

WOMANS' TEMP. ORG., WILLIAMSPORT.

CATHOLIC TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

Meeting of the Committee of Arrangements---Details of the Demonstration.

Another meeting of the committee, to make arrangements for the coming State Convention, representing the Catholic Temperance Societies of the county, was held last evening in the basement of the Cathedral, Lieut. M. J. Sullivan in the chair, and T. J. O'Keefe, Esq., keeping the minutes. The various sub-committees reported satisfactory progress. The Committee on Hall stated that they had secured the Academy of Music for the two days, (17th and 18th inst.), on which the convention will be held. The details of the procession to take place on the afternoon of the first day of the convention were perfected. Mr. J. C. Conroy was chosen Grand Marshal, with Messrs. J. McGrath and M. F. Foley as Assistants. Mr. W. J. Dick will marshal the First Division, Mr. P. J. Morgan the Second and Mr. P. Brennan the Third. It was resolved to give St. Malachi's (South Side) Temperance Society the lead of the First Division, St. Paul's (Cathedral) the lead of the Second, and St. Andrew's (Manchester) of the Third. The lines will be formed at two o'clock P. M., sharp, as follows: First Division on Fifth avenue, right resting on Grant street; Second Division on Third avenue, and Third Division on Second avenue, the right resting on Grant. The route is as follows: Up Fifth to Wylie, to Congress, to Fifth again, to High, to Webster, to Grant, to Fifth, to Market, to Sixth, to Penn, to Ninth, to Liberty, to the Academy and dismiss.

Passing the Cathedral the procession will be reviewed by the clergy; passing the Court House, by the State delegates.

The Academy of Music will be beautifully decorated for the occasion with flags, banners, evergreens and mottoes. In the evening at the Academy the temperance drama of "The Tipplers" will be repeated, by the St. Paul's Choral Club, with Messrs. Rourk, Dunn and Slevin in the leading roles.

From the large scale on which the preparations are being made, it is expected the procession will be a most imposing demonstration.

Confirmation.

Right Rev. M. Domenec, Catholic Bishop of Pittsburgh, yesterday administered the rite of Confirmation—in the morning at Holy Trinity (German) church, Rev. Father Roswog pastor, corner of Center avenue and Fulton street; in the afternoon at St. Agnes church, Soho, Rev. J. Holland, pastor, and in the evening at St. Bridget's church, Enoch street Eleventh ward, Rev. James Treacy, pastor. At Holy Trinity seventy-five boys and girls received the sacrament; at St. Agnes one hundred boys and girls, and at St. Bridget's eighty-five boys, eighty-six girls and eight adults. The service on each occasion was attended with great solemnity, particularly in the evening at St. Bridget's. Here the church was beautifully illuminated, the high altar ornamented with candles and flowers, and the throng of worshippers very large. The St. Bridget's Cornet Band was in attendance and discoursed appropriate music beforeand after the service. The choir under the direction of Prof. Thos. F. Kirk, with Miss Lizzie Kirk presiding at the organ, rendered the following selections:

|---|---|
| Overture (organ) | Flotow |
| Vespers (solos and chorus) | Est |
| Magnificat (chorus and orchestra) | Mozart |
| Veni Creator (quartett) | Millard |
| Memorare (Mrs. Stack soprano solo) | Baerger |
| Te Deum (chorus) | German |
| O Salutaris (Mrs. Stack) | Hodgett |
| Tantum Ergo { orchestra and chorus } | Beethoven |
| Priests' March (organ) | Mendelsohn |

The choruses with orchestral accompaniment to the thirty-two voices, were executed most effectively. The soprano solos by Mrs. Stack and Miss Annie Hanlon, and the bass solos by Prof. J. J. Benitz were finely rendered. The youthful candidates, who received confirmation, presented an attractive appearance, the little girls being dressed in white with white veils and crowns of flowers, and the boys in becoming black. The Bishop before and after the ceremony discoursed on its nature and the duties it entailed.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Inspection of the Houses and Apparatus' by the Commissioners.

On Saturday the Board of Fire Commissioners made a quarterly inspection of the houses and apparatus' of the department, and it was found generally, to be in a satisfactory condition. Several councilmen and others accompanied the Board, and the whole party consisted as follows: Messers. Alex. Pitcairn, John J. Torley, Jenkin Jones, John Larimer, John H. McIlroy and George W. Wilson, President, of the Commission; Messrs. David Aiken, Jr., James Littell, G. L. Braun and James S. Atkinson, of the City Councils, Charles A. Kehew Secretary of the Central Board of Education, John P. Duff, Secretary of the Water Committee, George Larimer, Inspector of Water Works machinery, and David E. Weaver and Henry Walker. Messrs. W. A. Adams and William Rose of the Altoona Fire Department, accompanied Chief Engineer White.

The party met at the Seventh avenue engine house where the alarm telegraph wagon and an omnibus were in waiting for their transportation. After inspecting matters at this place, the Eagle house and then the Duquesne were visited after which the South Side was done. The new house for the Mechanics company located corner of Bingham and Ninth streets, now nearly completed was examined, then the Mechanics and the Walton companies. The party next drove to the Twenty-fourth ward engine house about the occupancy of which there has been considerable dispute. Councilmen and others were surprised to find this a handsome three-story brick building, almost new, having been erected by the borough of Ormsby just before consolidation, at a cost of $11,000. That it should have been rented over the head of the Board of Fire Commissioners for the paltry sum of $300 per year, the city to furnish fuel and gas, is still more surprising. The building has a very handsome front on Carson street. The Board of Commissioners, upon examination, took full possession of the engine room, leaving a hose carriage, and two men there in charge.

The Relief and Phillips companies were next visited, after which the party were driven to the residence of Alex. Pitcairn, Esq., where they were handsomely entertained. Visits to the Hiland avenue engine and hook and ladder companies in East Liberty, the Lawrence company, on Forty-fourth street, and the Independence and Niagara companies, on Penn avenue, completed the tour. The party then returned to the place of starting, much pleased with the condition of the department. The Councilmen, especially, expressed themselves highly gratified with the trip, and with the completeness of the arrangements provided by the Board of Fire Commissioners for the suppression of fires. As heretofore so frequently remarked, the belief prevails that, for its size, the Pittsburgh fire department is in a most excellent state of efficiency and discipline.

A SATISFACCTORY TRIAL.

At a number of the houses, where time permitted, trials were had to see the celerity with which the horses could be got in readiness to move in answer to an alarm. We should state in explanation that in some instances the usual good time was not made where new and untrained horses were on duty, and from other causes. We note the following:

At the Seventh avenue house, occupied by both Engine Company No. 3, with engine and hose carriage, and Hook and Ladder Company "A," the whole five horses were hitched up on the first trial in 20¼ seconds, and on the second trial in 15 seconds.

The Duquesne engine and hose horses were hitched up in fifteen seconds. This, it may be said, is probably the most inconvenient house for the movement of horses in the city.

At the Mechanics, in Birmingham, another narrow and ill-adapted house, the three horses were made ready in twenty-one seconds.

At the Walton house, occupied as the Seventh avenue house—by an engine and hook and ladder company—most excellent time was made. The five horses were got in readiness in fourteen seconds, while the hose carriage horse was prepared to move in twelve seconds.

Most excellent time was made at the Relief house also, on first trial the time being fifteen seconds and on the second trial thirteen seconds.

The Phillip's too did excellently where, however, there is less distance for the horses to run than in most of the houses. The hose carriage horse was ready in 11 seconds and all in 12 seconds.

The Hiland avenue horses made it in 19 seconds and the Niagara in 15 seconds.

The Independence boys put their animals in proper condition in 12 seconds.

Altogether the trials were everywhere most satisfactory and the firemen deserve much credit for their perseverance and patience in training their horses and for the care and labor they bestow upon their houses and apparatus.

Upon the return of the Commissioners, a test alarm was given from box 14, corner Wood street and Diamond alley, which brought the Duquesne hose carriage in two minutes and ten seconds from the first tap of the bell. The engine followed quickly after as also the Eagle company. The Hook and Ladder truck from Seventh avenue, arrived in 2:10, and the Niagara hose carriage in four minutes. This last was probably the quickest time considering the distance run.

Personal.

Miss Effie Ellsler, who appeared in this city, recently, as Fanchon, had a benefit at the Academy of Music in Cleveland on the evening of the 28th inst., essaying the trying role of Juliet. Of her performance the Cleveland Leader speaks in the very highest terms, saying: "In the conception of the character Miss Ellsler has chosen to give us a happy and we believe a comprehensive medium. She has evidently seen and studied all the standard models of character from Neilson to Coombs, but has adopted none of them in her idea of what the author intended should go to show the force and strength of this, the youngest of all his heroines. Her idea was original in many points, but none who watched the movement closely and analyzed the words and motives, could come to any other conclusion than that it was correct in conception and as nearly perfect in detail as a first representation could be expected from one so young. It was, in fact, a most worthy triumph of genius, as well as a most gratifying dramatic treat to her friends and admirers. As an indication of how it was received it may be stated that she was called for at the end of each act." Miss Ellsler was called out between acts, and presented with a set of diamond ear-drops, a copy of the Bible and of the Episcopal Prayer-Book, and a handsome statuette group of Romeo and Juliet in verde antique. Mr. Gotthold, who was present, gave the young lady a very handsome bouquet, forwarded from this city by a number of her admirers. Miss Ellsler is bound to make a bright mark in her chosen profession, and it is with pleasure that this record of her early success is made.

REV. WM. POLLARD, of this city, lectured on "St. Cecilia," Patroness of Church Music, in the Church of the Holy Innocents, Cincinnati, last evening, for the benefit of the school and church.

LOWER PRICES THAN EVER

The plan we a few weeks since adopted of selling Goods at small profits to cash and prompt men has brought us a large increase of very desirable trade. So well satisfied are we with the results that we are determined to continue in the same way. We Reduce Prices just as soon as we are notified of any decline in the Eastern Markets, and in this manner by lopping off a few cents here and there, we maintain our name of being the Cheapest House in our line in the city.

We confine our sales to a few articles only, and not having a thousand and one things to claim our attention, we are in a position to do justice to what we do sell. We have no Sugars, Teas, Spices, Tobaccos, Confectionaries or Coffees to worry over, and we have no high-priced Goods to average up on. We sell everything on its own merits for just what it is worth, without any regard to what other houses in the city are selling the same Goods at. If you wish to secure the MONDAY, JUNE 1, 1874.

MR. WM. FRUIT is running for office in Mercer county. This is said to be a good year for fruit.

THE United States Senate, last week, cast 19 votes, out of 46, in favor of Woman Suffrage in the Territories—all of them Republicans. The world moves.

FOR some days, now, the testimony in the Washington Board of Public Works Investigation case has all been in—but, as yet, none of the inculpated members of the Board have gone out.

THE reported death of Mr. SHUMAN, of Lancaster, a member of the last Legislature, who was lately shot by a drunken young ruffian, turns out to be untrue. He is recovering from his wounds.

THE Cunard steamship line will, hereafter, run a steamer from Boston to Liverpool once every two weeks, instead of once a week, as heretofore. The reason given is, that the steamers cannot secure secure cargoes at Boston.

THE Evansville (Ind.) Courier believes that if the name of that city was changed to Lamasco, the population would be doubled before the next census. And if it does not have the anticipated effect, it can easily be changed to Fiasco.

THE advocates of the cotton tax refunding swindle will attempt to pass it in the House to-day, under suspension of the rules. It is to be hoped that body may have the moral courage to suspend it—the monstrosity—by the neck, until the breath has finally passed from its carcass.

THERE is a probability that the grave in which rest the remains of CALHOUN, the great apostle of Southern nullification, may presently become the property of some Northern speculator. He was buried in a church in Charleston, South Carolina, which is about to be sold for taxes, the congregation claiming to be too poor to pay them.

REMARKING on certain restrictions placed by the Japanese government on the press of that country, the Cincinnati Enquirer observes: "This is patterned after the United States during the late war, when only 'loyal' papers were suffered to appear." We were not aware that the Enquirer was suspended at any time during the period in question.

TEXAS boasts that while Pennsylvania, with over three millions of people, has only 271,000 oxen and stock cattle, the "Lone Star" State, with but eight hundred thousand inhabitants, has 3,800,000 cattle. We are very glad that Texas has something to be proud of—certainly it cannot be her citizens—and this is probably the reason why her cattle so greatly outnumber them.

THE State election in Oregon takes place to-day. State officers, Legislature, and a member of Congress are to be chosen. In 1872 the Republicans carried the State by 3,502 majority over all opposition, but last year NESMITH, Democrat, was elected to Congress by nearly two thousand majority. The Congressman to be elected to-day will be the first new member of the Forty-fourth Congress.

IN THIS city and vicinity, as throughout the Commonwealth and the Northern States generally, Decoration Day was observed with appropriate commemorative ceremonies, which seem to grow more and more beautiful and benign as, year by year, we are removed farther and farther from the fading vistas and lessening theaters of that bitter but heroic past. Decoration Day bids fair to become, ultimately, the most cherished of all our national holidays.

WE PUBLISH, to-day, Senator MORTON's plan for electing a President. It differs from the present plan only in giving the electoral vote of a State for President by Congressional districts, instead of by States. It abolishes the cumbrous machinery of electors, but retains the idea of giving one vote for each Congressman, and two votes for the State at large. In its general features it is but a return to the single district electoral system which prevailed in the early part of this century, and which was abandoned as unsatisfactory.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Commercial Advertiser "wants to know" whether the present Governor of Ohio, whom the derelict Republicans allowed to be elected, is the same WILLIAM ALLEN, formerly United States Senator, member of the JOHNSON Convention of 1866, and whom GREELEY at the time pronounced to be a "pestilential Copperhead?" He is the identical personage, and it was on account of his pronounced anti-war record that he was selected by the Democracy of Ohio as their standard-bearer.

THE Washington Chronicle, which had no scruple whatever against printing the incoherent gibberish of poor crazed Congressman MELLISH, as a paid advertisement, impertinently advises the COMMERCIAL not to loose its temper over the miserable picayunishness exhibited by Congress with regard to the Centennial. There are occasions when one does well to be angry—and whenever PECKSNIFF begins to lay down views and make suggestions, the flexors and extensors of our arm, metaphorically speaking, always begin to itch for exercise.

WE gave, in Saturday's paper, some statistics from the advance sheets of POOR's forthcoming manual for last year, showing that the number of miles of railroad in operation at the close of the year was 70,651, and the number of miles of road built during the year, 3,916. The total earnings of these various roads amounted in round numbers to $535,000,000, against $473,000,000 in 1872, an increase of more than thirteen per cent. We observe that the largest earnings in any one State, were in Pennsylvania, where the gross earnings for 1872, on 4,332 miles of railroad, were $75,000,000, and in 1873, on 4,424 miles were $83,500,000, a gain of $7,500,000—certainly an encouraging exhibit.

THE New York Tribune within a day or two has announced the name of Hon. ROBERT W. MACKEY as a candidate for the United States Senatorship in place of Hon. JOHN SCOTT, whose successor is to be elected by the next Legislature. As the Tribune is not in Mr. MACKEY's confidence, in any way, its authority to speak for him or use his name may well be questioned. We think we know as much of that gentleman's mind as the Tribune is likely to know, and if he is a candidate for that or any other place, at this time, we are not aware of it. He has just entered upon his term as State Treasurer, to which he was last year chosen by the people, and is sufficiently contented with that mark of public approbation to entertain no other aspirations.

THERE are forty thousand persons in Louisiana rendered homeless and destitute by the late floods, ten thousand in Arkansas, and ten thousand in Mississippi, and supplies will be necessary until August or September, when the corn can be harvested. The present relief fund will be exhausted in less than two weeks, when sixty thousand of our kindred—bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh—will be absolutely perishing for want of food. And yet, notwithstanding the imminence of the terrible emergency, Pittsburgh looks on, with its hands in its pockets, almost as stolidly as if its sensibilities had been seared with a red-hot iron. It is a pitiable and humiliating spectacle—nor is there any reason why words should be minced in saying so.

THE President, it is understood, will send to the Senate to-day, or some day soon, the name of BENJ. H. BRISTOW, of Kentucky, as Secretary of the Treasury, in place of RICHARDSON, resigned, drummed out or removed.

What qualifications BRISTOW has for this peculiar place it would be hard to determine. He may have been a good soldier, and he may be possibly a good lawyer; but what he knows about the finances of a great nation is an unsolved and unsolvable problem. He cannot, it is supposed, be any worse than RICHARDSON; but is he likely to be any better? BRISTOW comes from a State which has not a Republican representative in either branch of Congress, and which does not possess, in all its length and breadth, a constituency capable of sending one. Why such a State should have a Cabinet officer passes all comprehension; but it is not unprecedented. With the single exception of Mr. FISH, [illegible] is not a single member of the Cabinet [illegible] his back at home a successful party at [illegible] New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio and Oregon have all gone Democratic since the Cabinet was appointed, and Iowa lost, last year, her proud position as a Republican State. There is warrant, therefore, for the choice of BRISTOW; and if FISH would only retire, so as to permit the choice of a Secretary of State from Virginia or Georgia, the Cabinet would be a unit in that respect, if in no other.

WITCHCRAFT.

Perhaps one ought to be rather surprised at the surprise with which many foreigners have heard of the recent trial and burning of witches in Mexico. The thing seems very natural, quite in harmony with other late Mexican doings which caused surprise in those only who knew little about the extremely ignorant and fanatical population of some portions of our sister republic. If the people of Ahualulco who, a few weeks ago, tortured and killed Missionary STEVENS and then mutilated his remains, do not every day demand the execution of a witch, the simple and sufficient reason is that nobody is suspected by them of playing or of wishing to play the part. Want of opportunity, not want of motive saves them from the folly. Unfortunately for the people of Jacobo, in the State of Sinaloa they were convinced that they had witches among them, and they forthwith proceeded to deal with them as ignorance and superstition directed. But unlike the wretched enthusiasts of Ahualulco who in putting poor STEVENS to death acted as rioters and violated well known laws, the people of Jacobo performed their duty in the most regular and lawful manner, and their proceedings have been officially reported to the central government by the alcalde of the town, Senor CASTILLA, in what is, we suppose, entirely unexceptionable legal phraseology.

The naked facts without details are that JOSE MARIA BONILLA and his wife, DIEGA, were, on the 4th of April, arrested, condemned and burnt alive as sorcerers. They were proved to have cast a spell over a certain SILVESTRE ZACARIAS. There was no doubt about their guilt, says the alcalde. As a final test and to make assurance doubly sure, the person bewitched was made to swallow three mouthfuls of holy water, whereupon he vomited up fragments of a bed-quilt and bunches of hair. Then, "the people, righteously exasperated against the sorcerers, demanded that they should be burnt alive," a punishment which "seemed to the alcalde just and equitable," and which was at once inflicted. In the conclusion of his report, the alcalde declares that he has his eye on many many other sorcerers in his jurisdiction by whom divers citizens have suffered injury; a threat which has since been made good by the burning of an old woman and her son, at the instigation of the people of Jacobo.

It is gratifying to learn that the Mexican government has resolved thoroughly to investigate the subject of these atrocious executions. There is, however, no reason to anticipate that the investigation will effect any immediate result of much value. It may be doubted whether even the severe punishment of the alcalde or the people would prevent the repetition of the offense. But the present government of Mexico has given good evidence of its interest in the cause of popular education, and such proceedings as those in the State of Sinaloa are well adopted to stimulate its zeal. The Indian and semi-Indian populations most urgently need enlightenment, as their ignorance and superstition render them a constant source of peril to the peace and order of the country. It is among them that President LERDO, besides establishing schools, has proposed to place military colonies as agencies for watching as well as for training them in the duties of good citizens.

Some American papers, when referring to the recent witch-burning cases, have taken occasion to make amiable allusion to similar affairs in Massachusetts, two hundred years ago. It is, no doubt, a good while since a witch was burnt in the United States, and we may, with some confidence believe that such a crime is impossible at present even in the least enlightened sections of the country. It is, however, hard to tell. There are some very ignorant populations in the United States, and among an ignorant population no terrors are so terrible or irresistible as those excited by the belief that a fellow mortal, in virtue of a compact with the powers of evil, is able to direct them for the destruction or the injury of human beings and their property. It is only a little more than a hundred years since MARIA RENATA was burnt as a witch at Wurzburg in Germany. It isn't a hundred years since old women were burnt as witches at Kalisk in Poland. Witches were executed in England in the eighteenth century; two at Huntingdon in 1716—and so recently as September, 4, 1863, a poor old paralyzed Frenchman died at Castle Hedingham in Essex, in consequence of having been ducked as a wizard. It is not absolutely certain that the people who ducked the old man really believed him to be a wizard; they may merely have believed in his malignity or wish to do evil without believing in his actual powers. SELDEN in his Table-Talk, says: "The law against witches does not prove there be any; but it punishes the motive of those people that use such means to take away men's lives. If one should profess that by turning his hat thrice and crying Buz, he could take away a man's life (though in truth he could do no such thing) yet this were a just law made by the State, that whosoever should turn his hat thrice and cry Buz, with an intention to take away a man's life, shall be put to death."

On the principle thus expounded, people might easily be punished for witchcraft in this country. Happily a milder punishment than death would probably be sufficient.

THERE is a notion widely prevalent in this county that the fortunes of great corporations hung upon the life of one man; and that upon the death of that one man the whole concern will go to sticks. There are masses of people who firmly believe that the New York Central could not get along without VANDERBILT just as there are those who imagine that the death of J. EDGAR THOMSON will be fatal to the Pennsylvania road.

We by no means underrate the value to these corporations of such men as VANDERBILT and THOMSON. There was no man in Pennsylvania better fitted for President of the Pennsylvania road than Mr. THOMSON and his long retention in that position by the stockholders is evidence of the fact that they fully appreciate his great capacities. But it by no means follows that he was the only man alive fit for that position. Civilization, in its progress, is constantly dropping men by the way, and others immediately step in and fill the vacant places. The successor is not always nor often as fit as the predecessor; but the places are always filled up, and the steady march goes on, without interruption.

It would be a sad thing, indeed, if great enterprises depended upon one life. They would not be worth undertaking, if they did. Life is too uncertain a foundation upon which to build such edifices. It may be some time before Mr. THOMSON's successor will be able to acquire the fund of invaluable experience which he possessed; but that will come in due season, and in the meantime the business of the road goes on and will go on with the same regularity as the diurnal revolutions of the earth.

The prosperity of great corporations depends greatly upon the character of the men who manage them, but it does not depend upon any one man or set of men. The world is full of men of great capacities, adapted by education, and inclination and experience for the various positions of importance that are constantly offering for them, and the death of one but makes place for another. It is sometimes a difficult problem to solve, to find the right man for the right place; but, generally speaking, these things arrange themselves to the ultimate satisfaction of all concerned.

We regret, deeply, the death of such men as Mr. THOMPSON. It is a serious loss to the company of which he was President, to be deprived of his experience and ability. But greatly as his death is to be lamented, and sincerely as it is to be mourned over, we have no doubt that a man will be found to fill his place satisfactorily, and that after he has served faithfully and efficiently for a long period of years, there will be just the same doubts about the possibility of finding a successor as now exist.

OUR Washington correspondent, in our Saturday's issue, telegraphed that the Civil Rights bill was hung up in the House in consequence of an intimation from the President that he would veto it, if passed.

This information comes to us so direct that we are warranted in commenting upon it as an ascertained fact; and, taking the fact for granted, it is as disgraceful as it is unparalleled. No other President has ever dealt in vetoes in advance; and, in view of that fact, we need not wait for the advent of a third term to secure the establishment of "Cæsarism." This is, in itself, Cæsarism, pure and simple.

We do not complain of the exercise of the veto power in the hands of the President, at the right time; but we do object to its use as a threat, and as a rod held in terrorem over the head of Congress. The proper and only time for its use is after Congress has acted, not before; and it is a gross abuse of the power to employ it in restraining Congressional action.

If Congress is not free to legislate as it chooses, let us give up our boasts about its freedom; and if it is not at liberty to originate legislation, let it abandon all responsibility in the matter, and throw the burden of framing laws upon the Executive. We shall then have a monarchical government in all but the name.

When Gen. GRANT was first inducted into office he declared that he had, and would have, no policy to enforce other than the will of the people. He seems to have got over that, and now he has a policy to enforce, and one that is directly at war with the will of the people as expressed by Congress.

If this issue of vetoes in advance is a part of the policy, which several newspapers have lately pointed out, to secure the President's re-election for a third term as the candidate of the South and the Democratic party, we can easily understand it; on any other hypothesis it is inexplicable.

AN ATTEMPT is to-day to be made in the House to suspend the rules and put the Senate Civil Rights bill on its passage. It is stated that a number of Republicans who would have voted for the bill were absent last Monday when the movement was made to take it from the Speaker's table, and it is also affirmed that several members who then voted against it propose now to vote for it. It is important, in a number of senses, that action should be taken upon the bill, one way or the other, without delay; besides which, intimations have been thrown out that the President will veto it, if passed; a fact which of itself should be sufficient to put Republican members on their mettle—at least so far as to show that they are not to be intimidated from the performance of what they consider their duty by threats of any character, actual or implied, from any source, however high.

THROUGHOUT the State, we observe, the Democratic press has again become exceedingly enamored of the temperance politicians, urging them by all means to nominate straight tickets for the ensuing campaign, and invoking for them all kinds of good fortune. These papers know well enough that the normal political affiliations of the great body of temperance advocates are with the Republican party, and hence their resort to the plan, "Divide and conquer." But the trick is too palpable.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

"For modes of faith let graceless zealots fight;
He can't be wrong whose life is in the right."

The wheat harvest has commenced in the South.

Religious anniversaries—and quarrels—are just now all the rage.

The first "grange" organized in the country was established at Harrisburg, in April, 1868.

When blunders can be cured by blunders, it will be time enough to revive the old Democracy.

Three million cubic yards of levee will be required in Louisiana to protect that State from another overflow.

That Mormon Cannon is to be discharged. The House Committee on Elections have decided to report in favor of his expulsion.

An inspired blunder. A Boston compositor the other day, in an article entitled "contracting with city officials," rendered "City Fathers" into "City Jobbers."

The other day it was hinted by the Ways and Means Committee that unless Richardson resigned on Monday, "something would happen." To-day is Monday.

Southern papers urge the South to go into the ship building business; and, in support of the suggestion, submit a variety of facts which are deserving of consideration.

It is affirmed that a smaller proportion of men educated at West Point proved unfaithful to the country in the late rebellion than of men in any other branch of the service.

The present graduating class at the military academy at West Point will have to go home without assignment, should the House bill for the reduction of the army pass the Senate.

There is a growing disposition both in this country and England to have commercial disputes and commercial differences settled by commercial men, instead of through the cumbrous machinery of the ordinary judicatory.

What's the matter with Butler? He said two months ago, with a great deal of earnestness, that he would "fight Sanborn's fight if the devil himself stood in the way." But when the time came he was as gentle as a frightened tumblebug waiting to be stepped on.

The minor paragraphist of the Buffalo Express rushes in to give the world the benefit of his ignorance and incapacity in this wise: "A given quantity of brains will spread over more square acres of white paper in Philadelphia than anywhere else in the world."

Think of this: An affray recently occurred between pilgrims and the soldiers in charge of the "holy place" at Bethlehem. It was merely owing to the surprising self-command of the Turkish troops that the holy place was not bathed in Christian blood.

The Brooklyn Argus thinks it would be a good thing if the entire State of Pennsylvania "could be hoisted on to a turn-table and revolved to some point west of the Mississippi." The character of the good old Commonwealth is a standing rebuke to New York, you see.

PERSONAL.

The sum of $95,000 has been paid to the widow of the late Edwin Forrest, in settlement of all her claims against the estate, which is valued at one million dollars.

How touchingly beautiful this is! Three little New Hampshire girls not long since lost their mother by death. Hearing that a lady friend of the family was dying, these three little children went to their grandmother, called her aside and whispered in her ear: "Mrs. —— is dying, and we want you to go to her and tell her to give our best love to our mother."

A large expedition, which is likely to prove of great interest and advantage, is now being fitted out at Fort Lincoln, Dakota Territory, to explore the Black Hills country. The expedition will be under the command of General George A. Custer. Very little is known of the Black Hills, but it is believed that the country is rich in mineral wealth, and full of interest to the explorer and scientist.

They've got them in California—the whole family—Victoria Woodhull, Tennie C. Claflin, Mrs. Claflin and "Col." Blood. They say they are sick and tired of New York, and that they are going to open a broker's office in San Francisco, with a capital, cash and credit, of a hundred thousand dollars. We have no particular grudge against California; still we hope it will keep them.

Mrs. Vassal, the sister of the famous army nurse, Miss Clara Burton, died at Worcester, Mass., last week. She was the first Northern woman who welcomed the Old Sixth Massachusetts at Washington after its famous march through Baltimore. She lived at Washington all through the war, and devoted herself to the soldiers in the hospitals, where undoubtedly she contracted the disease which caused her death.

There has been a "rape of the lock" out in Louisville, Kentucky, under rather odd circumstances. Miss Pauline Leszinsky, who had a gorgeous head of hair of her own, was awakened in the night by a noise and, after the customary palpitations and examinations of her door had been gone through with, she lay down again only to discover that the pet braid on the right side of her head had been severed as it lay trailing on the pillows, leaving neither hair nor burglar for her to up-braid. It was probably cut off by some one who knew its market value and who went for it through the window.

Of the Texas State Fair, held last week, a local paper says: "Decidedly the best feature of the fair this year is not the fair at all, but the gathering of the veterans of Texas. Over four hundred of these participants of the war of the Revolution and of wars of the Republic, have gathered together from all parts of the State. Men have met during this week who have not seen each other since the battle of San Jacinto, or since they parted in the prisons of Mexico. 'Watch that old fellow,' says one, 'I have seen him in the chain-gang.' 'God bless you, Reub Brown, the last time I saw you was in the Castle of Perote.' And so they met, and renewed their youth, and have passed the days in one continued round of gratification."

FASHIONS FOR JUNE.

How to Spend the Summer—Country Life—All About Summer Toilettes.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

NEW YORK, June 1, 1874.

Summer departures commenced weeks ago with those not always happy persons who have summer residences in the country and who have to leave New York when the early peas and asparagus are coming in, when strawberries are plentiful at a dollar a box, and young lamb at a dollar a pound; when spring fashions make their appearance in church and on the promenade, and window-boxes bloom out in all the glory of fully developed hyacinths, flame-tinted begonias, creeping ivy, and promising, but late, performing gladiolas. It is all very well if one has a hot-house, and a conservatory, and a skillful gardener, and a good cook, and well trained maids, and "going to the country" means simply giving a few directions as to care in packing, and the transfer from a palace of delights to a garden of beauty and content.

But there are very few to whom it means this, and the majority even of those who could very well afford country baronial style prefer a less imposing but less responsible home in town and freedom to wander at will through country scenes abroad or at home, or participation in the gay life of fashionable crowds at the watering places.

The exodus to Europe is not so great as last year and consists so far mainly of those whose business as well as pleasure attract them to the European Capitals. It is argued from this that our own great American resorts will find this a thriving season but this there is room to doubt. Business is depressed, prices have lowered, there is a feeling of insecurity and want of confidence unfavorable to liberal outlay and the short season in conjunction with the enormous expenditures renders profit under any auspices extremely doubtful. A method of lengthening the season which would be advantageous to all parties concerned in our climate would be to extend it into the fall and offer the inducement of reduced rates through September and October. The autumn months are by far the most delightful parts of the year in the country. The season in town every year commences later, and it is not probable that we shall have Italian opera again before November, it having been discovered that opera audiences do not assemble until they are ready to put on their new clothes and kid gloves for the winter campaign. There is nothing to prevent thousands of city residents from enjoying the golden ending of summer in the midst of its fullest radiance, and strengthen their forces for social conflict in the bracing atmosphere of the upper lakes, Saratoga, Niagara, or the woods of the Adirondacks, rather than the stifling air of city hotels and boarding houses.

NOTABLE EVENTS.

Some notable events, including events that have either taken place or are on the tapis, have produced quite an unusual stir in society at this season, for May was formerly considered an unlucky month for marriages, and is not now a favorite one, and been the motive for several quite novel and very elegant entertainments.

At a luncheon party recently given to the bridegroom of the President's daughter, previous to his marriage, the table was decorated by an artist whose business it is to attend to this department alone. Lakes in miniature composed of glass were filled with fruits, embedded in their own flowers and foliage. Strawberries, lemons, oranges, grapes, and even pine-apples were treated in this way; and over all were suspended flying white doves upon golden wires fastened to the ceiling, which closed and spread their wings as naturally as if sharing the enjoyment.

The pretty idea was illustrated in one of the offerings made to Christine Nilsson on one of the last nights of her appearance in New York. Above a magnificent silver and gilt vase filled with flowers, floated a swan in miniature carrying something folded under its left wing, but whether it was a diamond solitaire ring, a pendant to match the bracelet received the same evening or another horse-shoe has never been determined.

The great prima donna is said to have a passion for horse shoes, some remnant of a superstition, probably, of her ancestry, and it is borne out by the number of earrings and charms which she possessed in this shape. One of her latest acquisitions was a watch in silver and black enamel, made to represent oxydized silver, (but permanent, which oxydized silver is not), in the form of a horseshoe, to be worn suspended from the waist. It was made by Stevens & Co., and I am informed that an immense demand has since sprung up for this quaint article of jewelry, and that orders can hardly be supplied for it. It is not very expensive, and it is certainly a pretty and useful ornament, the works being of guaranteed quality, which is not always the case with fancy watches. The same house has produced a novelty in necklaces, which consists of rows of small real gold coins, of any nationality preferred. It is very odd, and some ladies are already having earrings made to match. But to return to

FLORAL GIFTS AND DECORATIONS.

It is quite impossible to tell where the fancy for natural ornamentation will stop, or in what way in the future art will be mingled with nature. Strawberries in their own trailing leaves and white blossoms may be pretty to look at, but most people prefer them massed in a dish for eating, and flanked by white sugar and cream. Dinner parties and luncheon parties very often are Barmecide feasts, but they will be more so than ever if the fruits for dessert are left upon trees, and the temptation presented to economical housekeepers of sending them back untouched to the florists or the fruiterers.

Moreover, it is beginning to be the fashion to send young ladies pots of flowers instead of baskets and bouquets. Clara Morris was presented with a magnificent camelia in full bloom on the first night of "Camille," and young ladies make no secret of preferring rustic stands filled with growing plants or jardinnieres for the windows to mere bouquets of perishable flowers.

HANDKERCHIEF STANDS.

A late importation from Paris is so pretty,—it forms part of the furniture of a brides handsome residence, which by the by is a marriage gift from "papa-in-law"—that I feel bound to describe it. It consists of a sort of fluted pedestal, rather Grecian in shape, at the top of which is set—like a china flower pot on a jardiniere a casket shaped box of highly scented sandal wood. Within it are six cushions of painted white satin forming the bottom, sides, and top. These are filled with sachets d' odeur and the box being deep enough to be admit of this a dozen pair of gloves, and as many handkerchiefs are placed within it, which when removed are just sufficiently scented to be agreeable for use.

On a gold ornament like a cage ring on the top of the box the model I describe has a beautiful tropical bird, stuffed. The sides of the casket on the exterior have similar birds painted in vivid colors and a vine of gilded leaves runs down the tripod—like stems of the pedestal within which are gilded flutings. Fronds of fern may be set—each frond separated—in the small cup like ornaments at the vase. By being placed near the window the rich odor of the sandal wood fills the room in a few moments.

"SCABBARD" DRESSES.

It is proposed to introduce this summer a novelty into American fashion in the form of the "scabbard" dress or "sheath" dresses, an exaggeration of the "clinging" styles which are now so much in vogue. These scabbard dresses are in fact the same as those worn under the French directoire and in which to look at a woman it would seem utterly impossible that she should run and a tour de force that she should even walk. For these dresses are not merely narrow; they are quite too narrow for grace of motion to be possibly clinging not only to the upper portion of the hips, but round the knees. If ever worn in their present style by our belles it will be with such modifications—if that much abused term may be used—and alterations as will make them less startling to behold. And though economical it would seem from the scantiness of the pattern, our modistes, who many of them hail from Paris and London will surely make up the difference in cost in the trimmings. A dress that from neck to hem, is straight and clinging with only room to move the feet afforded by gores set in between the breadth at the bottom, and at but a quarter of a yard from the hem, slightly widening the bottom, certainly would seem to require so disguising of its original dimensions to obtain favor with us.

But in a true sheath dress no overskirt or draping is admissable. By draping I mean added draping in an independent form as it is needless to state. After the above description that the original "sheath" garment could not be draped, and with an overskirt it would no longer be a "scabbard" dress. But scarfs of unembroidered cashmere will be permitted to soften the crude ensemble, if ensemble it may be called—and also very large jet or coin necklaces row below row as on the Shah's neck.

With the scabbard dress will reappear a long vanished fashion, those worn abroad display the mode I allude to, embroidery above the hem.

In some of these dresses this embroidery—reappearing in a narrower design around the neck en collier—reaches as to the skirt up to the knees and is of great richness and beauty and of slightly contrasting shades.

BEADED GUIPURE OVERDRESSES.

In the notices which reach us of the playing of a new piece, the Sphinx in Paris, a great deal of attention is paid to the toilettes which are described with great minutia. One of them worn by the principal actress, Mdlle. Croizette, is described as a maize silk covered with black beaded lace, very new and startling in its effect. As these beaded guipure overdresses are among the newest things here, lady readers may be interested to know of just what they consist. One style forms an apron which is tied at the back with a sash and is accompanied by trimming and ornaments for boddice and sleeves. Another has a sleeveless jacket instead of trimming, and a third consists of a polonaise, simple but graceful in form, with apron front, close sides and sleeves finished off at the elbow with falls of beaded lace.

The fabric is all silk guipure woven instead of handmade, and dotted with single cut jet so that although it sparkles all over and presents a wonderfully brilliant appearance it is not heavy as one would suppose.

In addition to the black there are sets of yellowish white guipure dotted with white jet, which over a faint rose or faded blue, present an even more distinguished appearance.

The same idea is carried out in grenadine, only instead of being dotted the jet embroidery forms clustered leaves and borders. This is striking, but not at all so graceful or so effective as a complete costume of plain grenadine trimmed with side pleatings of the material over which is placed an apron and jacket of beaded guipure.

BLACK GRENADINE COSTUMES.

But there are rich costumes of black grenadine which also seem to be one mass of jet. The bodies are striped cuirasse fashion with passementerie, or with lace beaded with jet; the aprons are trimmed row above row with beaded lace or rich silk and jet fringe. Beautiful they are exceedingly, but so peculiar and so marked that every part of the costume, including the beaded capote and lace covered must correspond with them. Its quite the mode, however, to trim the grenadine skirt with the material only, reserve the lace, beading, fringe, and the like for the tunic or polonaise.

ENGLISH BAREGE DRESSES.

A pretty and long neglected fabric has reappeared this season and makes up into pretty, simple, inexpensive dresses for the country and home wear. This is English bareges and in Quaker grey or the creamy white which many matrons will remember as furnishing a costume for the days of their girlhood, is exceedingly delicate and lady-like.

They are usually made without overskirts and trimmed with the material only in narrow flat pleated flounce, headed with puffs, in sometimes a double series. The boddice is straight round the waist, what is known as the French waist, the sleeves long, close, and trimmed at the wrist, a single repetition of the design upon the skirt. A Valenciennes lace at the throat and wrists and a sash fastened a little to the side end in a loop with two long wide ends completes the costumes.

Very new sashes are made of three yards twenty-seven inches wide silk doubled over and seamed down the sides. This makes one loop and two irregular ends of the requisite depth which may be fringed out or fringe added, as prepared.

NEW SUMMER POLONAISES.

Quite the newest and prettiest things in polonaises are made in striped grenadine batiste; a lovely material, corn in tint, and trimmed with ecru lace and insertion. To this is added a silk sash the exact shade of the sash, doubled, as mentioned in a preceding paragraph, and the insertion is apparently fastened down with small, flat buttons covered with silk to match, and put on in Virginia fence style. The polonaise is unlined and may be worn with or without a skirt of the same material.

Another style of polonaise, suited to evening wear, is made of very clear white organdy. The body and entire front, which are cut in princesse form, are a mass of puffs and insertions of fine needlework or Valenciennes lace. The back of the skirt is moderately full and gracefully draped with trails of tinted roses and pale blue or pink rose ribbons.

THE "WREATH" CHAPEAU.

The wreath chapeau is purely and simply a coronet brim of foundation lace concealed by flowers and kept upon the head by an elastic which passes under the hair.

This bonnet fait fureur in Paris and in London at the time, there being but one other that struggles with it in popularity. This is the cap bonnet and is simply a soft crown of crepe de chine faille or foulard or of turquoise silk covered with dotted net and with a ruche of lace or ribbon or a coronet-shaped wreath of small flowers.

Besides these two favorites the Corday, the Henri Trois, the Valois properly so called and the Pauline de Vignier are the favorite models. There is a rush for the Charles the First flats and gipsies to be worn, it is said, at watering-places, with quaint red flannel long cloaks lined with white or light blue silk.

A new style of arranging the triple rose clusters is to place two together and one a little way off quite alone as one above the left brow and the other just below the curved brim further back.

LINEN SUITS.

The linen polonaise, worn with a skirt of a different material has taken the place of the plain linen suits to a great extent for ordinary travelling and every day purposes. What are called "tourist" outfits are imported, consisting of a loose linen polonaise, belted in at the back, a skirt of striped cambric, and a lined satchel striped with leather.

They are not so bad for country excursions and such light uses, but for travelling a black skirt is best—a black silk or mohair—with which can be worn a black straw hat and black Russia leather belt.

More dressy linen and batiste suits are elaborately embroidered or ornamented with a mixture of braid and embroidery, and there is an abundance of embroidery upon linen sold by the yard, black upon grey, white upon dark blue, chocolate upon brown which may be applied to the plain linen fabric by ladies who wish to make it up in exclusive design.

The tight-fitting, rather loud style of polonaise, or redingote of last year, with its large pockets and deep, wide cuffs, has disappeared. The best styles this year have French backs (narrow, without side forms) and loose fronts, which are held in with belt or sash. The skirt is long, the form simple, ample and graceful—the skirt tied back instead of being bunched up.

THE "GOSSAMER" WATER-PROOF.

This is the name given to a recent invention which consists of a plain circular cloak, with hood made of fine linen or twilled silk, and thoroughly water-proof by a preparation of oil and then liquid India rubber. The extreme lightness of these wraps justifies their name of "Gossamer," and they will form a most welcome substitute for a woolen water-proof during the hot weather.

JENNIE JUNE.

Important to the Sensitive.

Persons with active brains and of a delicate organization should never be subjected to violent purgation or any other treatment calculated to prostrate them. Leeching, cupping, starving, and intestinal rasping, are of doubtful expediency in any case, but they are almost certain death to the sensitive and fragile. What such persons need is stimulation, and the very best invigorant they can take is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To give depleting medicines to the nervous, the debilitated, the infirm, the emaciated, the desponding, is like firing broadsides into a sinking ship. Thousands of dyspeptics are killed every year by medicines that sap the physical and constitutional stamina which, if reinforced by that powerful vegetable tonic, would soon prove an overmatch for the disease. It is true that the bowels require to be relieved and regulated, and the liver controlled, as well as the stomach to be toned and the system strengthened, and let it be borne in mind that the Bitters accomplish these objects gently and surely.

A POINTED ADDRESS.

Convinced that the system of long credits and extravagant prices (a feature inseparable from the old credit and loss system) was not sound, safe, or satisfactory to either customer or merchant, we have wholly discarded it, and inaugurated a reform which invites and, we believe, merits public confidence.

The Foundation Principle,
READY MONEY.
The goods bought and sold for Ready Money.
The very smallest rate of profit charged.
The lowest price marked in plain figures on each article, and no deviation allowed.
The customer free from payments of extra profits, necessary to credit business to cover losses.
Any article not approved is immediately exchanged, altered, or another made, and if these endeavors fail, or customer prefers, the money returned in full.
Orders from the city and country executed on this basis.
INSPECTION AND TRIAL SOLICITED ON THIS RECONSTRUCTED PLAN.
Patterns sent post free. Requests should give outline of kind and price preferred.
Our Stock is the largest in the city, both in Men's and Boys' Departments, as well as in piece goods for order work.

The citizens of Allegheny are notified to be economical in the use of water. Owing to an accident the new works will not be running for some time, and as the old machinery is not capable of supplying the city, if the water is wasted, the use of hose and running of fountains is prohibited. This order will be enforced, so that there will be a supply in case of fire, and the residents of the upper portion of the city may have a supply of water.

STOCK AND GOLD PRIVILEGES.

"STOCK PRIVILEGES."—$100 and commission will purchase a first-class contract, giving you the privilege of calling or delivering (i. e., being "long" or "short") 100 shares of any active stock, at any time in thirty days, and $150 to $200 for sixty days —$250 and commission will purchase an A1 contract (same time and terms as stocks) on $50,000 American gold coin. These contracts, known as "puts" and "calls," are new used by many operators in preference to speculating on a margin, as no further risk or outlay is incurred beyond the amount you decide to risk. Privileges can be had from 100 shares upwards on stocks, and $10,000 and upwards on gold. For farther particulars, write or send for our "Explanatory Circular." Settlement to be made at time of purchase, or on our delivery of the contracts to your agents or bankers in New York. All "puts" and "calls" negotiated by us are signed by members of the New York Stock Exchange, or bankers of acknowledged responsibility and credit.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, May 30, 1874.

Decoration day has been religiously observed by the banks and business men generally, so there is nothing to report of the day's doings. In New York the Stock Exchange has been closed, and no reports have been sent out. There is not likely to be any disturbing influence at work in the money market for some time to come, unless it be the marketing of the new wool clip, which should turn the balance of exchange again in favor of Pittsburgh, which is now ruling in favor of New York.

—Although the wool season can hardly be regarded as having commenced, yet everything in relation to it is a matter of interest to the trade.

Of late years there has grown up a practice, which it is to be hoped will continue, of the manufacturers buying direct from growers, without the intervention of dealers and speculators.

Viewing the matter from the stand-point of the interest of the farmers the competition thus developed is a benefit. If both dealers and manufacturers engage in the business of wool buying from the producers it is evident that they must enhance the price to the farmer, who is to that extent the gainer.

When the farmer finds two separate interests competing for his crop, he naturally keeps back his product in hopes of realizing the very highest figures.

There is no class that learns less from inference than the farmers; four years out of every five, from the competition among the different classes of buyers referred to. The market opens at full figures, and the course of the fall drops off to a more natural basis, and yet, farmers as a rule, hold on to their clip and stow it away, paying storage, insurance, and interest until the advance of it does come, has been eaten up in charges.

It is a rule of human nature, observed by all, except those at the moment most interested, to buy when every one else buys and sell with the majority, the result is that advancing forces are artificially stimulated and forced above actual values and a declining market is forced by the weight of compulsory sales far below the natural quotations.

It is a good rule if dealers could only remember it, to sell when everybody wants to buy, and to buy when everybody seems desirous of getting clear of holdings.

It is the secret of the success of the oldest operators in Wall street, when prices run to the top wave they are quickly short of the market, and when panic runs down values they load up with the shares of frightened sellers and quietly await the advance.

The same is equally true of any business that at all partakes of speculative tendencies.

The past week has been a dull one in the wool market, and nothing has transpired to relieve the monotony which for a time has prevailed. There is a general disposition manifested by the dealers to remain quiet and allow matters to take their course, and as stocks are almost entirely used up, the moment is peculiarly opportune for a close reefing of sails and a gathering up of the loose wash of the past season's operations. This is the policy which is being universally pursued, and as the volume of business has been small for the past two months and credit sales are rapidly maturing, it is probable that by the time the new clip makes its appearance the trade will be in a stronger position than for a long time.

—The public here are probably more interested in the course of Pennsylvania Railroad stock than in any other stock on the list. The large sales and violent fluctuations of late have attracted considerable attention and caused some uneasiness in the minds of investment holders. We take pleasure in reproducing from the Ledger an account of how these sales are made, as it exposes their fictitious character:

"At the first session of the Board there were further sales of some 1,650 shares of the same stock at 48@48⅛. Between the two sessions of the Board there were additional sales of some 2,050 shares, the prices ruling within the range of 48@48⅜. At the Second Board 100 shares sold at 48¾, and after Boards there were further sales of some 3,700 shares, the prices, time and regular, fluctuating from 48⅛ to 47⅞, and closing at 48, buyer 30. We have here an aggregate of 16,650 shares reported sold, against 23,700 shares reported sold the day before, the average advance yesterday being about ¼ per share on the sales of Tuesday. The outside observer may form some idea of the unreal and speculative character of the reported operations in Pennsylvania Railroad shares the past two days, when we tell them that on Tuesday, when the published report of sales was 21,700, the clearing house of the Board showed sales of some 55,000, and yesterday, when the sales as published reached but 16,650 shares, the clearing house showed sales of some 66,000 shares. Now, if these were all real sales, the doings of the Board as regards this particular stock might be alarming. But, be it known, that of Tuesday's clearing house report of sales some 55,000 shares, the entire amount of stock transferred was a little over 4,000 shares, or about 13 per cent. of the aggregate cleared; and of yesterday's clearings of some 66,000 shares the entire number of shares transferred was less than 5,000, being under 14 per cent. Thus, it will be seen, a very large part of the extraordinary movement in Pennsylvania Railroad shares within the last two days is an unmitigated stock gamble. One operator sells 100, 500 or 1,000 shares, the buyers of these sell them to another set, those again to another, until the same lots pass through ten or a dozen different sets of sellers and buyers, the same first sale of 100, 500 or 1,000 covering all the several intervening transactions, through the Clearing house, from A to B, from B to C, and so on to the end, coming back, it may be, at last, to the original seller, or being offset by opposite operations, thus ending huge operations in mere words, comparatively little money and but thirteen or fourteen shares out of every hundred reported sold being transferred. This battle-door sort of amusement of these fancy operators in stocks, if they were the only parties interested, might be permitted to proceed without exposure, but unfortunately there are thousands of others, innocent holders, whose interests are intimately connected with the market price of this leading stock of our market. Some have it pledged for loans of various kinds, and as its market price is depressed in the daily and unwarranted fluctuations, are forced to increased margins, or, perhaps, to submit to sale and whatever loss there may be; others, timid holders, ignorant of the real cause of the apparent distrust in the stock, are induced to untimely sales. The transactions, therefore, such as those of the past two days, are of wider operation and of more serious import than many may suppose, and certainly challenge grave reprehension. If no more of Pennsylvania Railroad had been reported sold than has been transferred, say some 4,000 or 5,000 shares each day, they would have been no excitement on the subject, and probably no appreciable decline in the price. The capital stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad is $75,000,000 or say 1,500,000 shares, the price of which has been knocked down about $3 per share, making an aggregate loss of about $4,500,000."

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY, May 30, 1874.

Our report of markets to-day is like the Irishman's chapter on snakes in Ireland. All places of business where closed yesterday to observe in a fitting manner, the ceremony of the day, and to afford the business an opportunity to enjoy one of the very few holidays that the average American business man allows himself.

Under such circumstances any attempt at reporting Saturday's markets would be a failure. We might perhaps devote some space to speculating what would have been the state of the markets, and the movement of prices, had there been any business, but as speculations of that kind are apt to lead to unsatisfactory results, as in Darwin's and Huxley's case we prudently abstain.

The following table of the receipts of the leading articles of produce by rail and river for the last twenty-four hours, show remarkably few receipts of oats, wheat and potatoes, being 6,915 bushels of wheat, 6,935 of oats, and 1,992 bushels of potatoes. The following is the statement:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Flour, bbls | 1,000 | Apples, bbls | 59 |
| Cheese, bxs | 240 | Corn, sks | 1,020 |
| Wheat, sks | 2,769 | Oats, sks | 2,418 |
| Butter, pkgs | 67 | Bacon, tcs | 13 |
| Potatoes, bush | 1,992 | | |

Memphis Market.

MEMPHIS, May 30.—Cotton dull at 17¾@17½c. Flour dull and nominal. Corn steady at 75@77c. Oats dull at 57@60c. Lard active at 12@13c. Bacon active at 7½@9½@11c.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE OIL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, June 1, 1874.

The following are the receipts of crude for the past week, with a comparison table for previous years; also, the exports of refined, together with the week's transactions:

BUSINESS.

The unsettled condition of the oil market continues and prices have further declined. We thought some time since that the bottom had been reached but such was not the fact; the week's decline was fully 15@20c per barrel. The demand was not active even at the low prices. The receipts of crude continues large, being in excess of any previous year by many thousand barrels. In our shipments East are included some 30,000 barrels that ought to have been reported before, but owing to circumstances over which we have no control it was not done. Prices of refined are also weak, with a slight decline as compared with last week's figures.

CRUDE RECEIPTS.

The following are the crude receipts from all points, by river and rail, for the past two weeks:

| | Last week. | This week. |

SATURDAY.

The oil men took a holiday on Saturday, and nowhere were there any transactions in oil. For that reason we give no reports of prices or quotations from any other points. It is to be hoped that a few days rest will give the market, both for crude and refined, a little more vigor.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY, May 30, 1874.

REMARKS.—It is needless to say that this is Decoration Day, and that business, as a general thing, is suspended. Little trade was transacted at the Central Stock Yards, as most of those engaged in buying and selling were participants in the touching and appropriate ceremonies of strewing the graves of our fallen heroes with flowers. There were no changes in the prices of stock from that of yesterday, hence we omit quotations.

IRON MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

May 29.—American Pig—The market for American pig iron continues excessively dull and depressed, with still a declining tendency. The only explanation that can be given for this condition of the market is the almost entire absence of consumptive demand, accompanied with a total absence of any speculation. Prices have been further reduced, though whatever concessions have taken place it has not resulted in stimulating any increased inquiry from buyers. The unsettled state of the labor question in the Lehigh section, which threatened to agitate the market for several days, appears to have entirely passed away. No. 1 iron is now quoted at $32 00@33 00 for the best brands; No. 2 at $30 00@32 00, and forge at $27 00@29 50, though these figures, in absence of actual transactions to base them, must be considered as more or less nominal.

Scotch pig—Although late advices from abroad in times past would have occasioned a material rise in values of imported iron, still the market has not apparently felt any effect from the extraordinary fact of ninety furnaces having blown out. They are, however, now partially resuming work, until seventy are again in full blast. As we stated in regard to American iron, the lack of demand from consumers is about the only explanation that can be given of the dead stillness which prevails in the market. We quote Coltness at $39 00@40 00, Glengarnock at $35 50@37 00, Langloan at $38 00; Summerlee at $36 00@38 50, and Eglinton at $34 00@35 00. We do not hear of a single transaction of importance in either Scotch or American iron.

Bar—Refined Bar continues very quiet, but prices are held about the same, say, 2-8@3c. Mills are generally on only time enough to fill current orders.

Rails—The market for all descriptions presents an exceedingly dull appearance, and in absence of transactions values are nominally unchanged. We quote Welsh at $52 00@54 00, gold, and American, $60 00@62 50, currency, at the mills.

Old Rails—This market also is very dull, and values remain nominally at $36 00@38 00 for Ts.

Scrap—The price has been reduced, but without resulting in any business of importance. We now quote at $37 00@38 00, from yard.—Iron Age.

May 27.—In Scotch pig we can quote no change from previous reports; there is an utter absence of demand for full parcels, but quotations are nominally unchanged. For American pig, reports continue discouraging for the future; the market continues depressed, and prices tend downward; the production, which is very light, is far in excess of the consumption for the present, and prices may be said to tend downward; the sales are small, among which we note 50 tons No. 1 Coleraine at $33 50—offered at $31 00 at the furnace, and 50 tons No. 2 Aurora, $31 00. Rails of all descriptions, both old and new, are nominal, and as last quoted. Scrap is quiet; a lot of 75 tons No. 1 wrought, sold at $32 00, ex vessel; from yard we quote $35 00@37 00. Store prices of manufactured continue as they have been for some time past, very steady, but very quiet.—Shipping List.

ST. LOUIS.

May 27.—Markets generally extremely dull.

PHILADELPHIA.

May 30.—Pig remains dull, the demand being confined to the immediate uses of consumers. Sales of No. 1 foundry at $32 00@33 00; No. 2 at $30 00@31 00; gray forge at $27 00@29 00; white and mottled at $24 00; 2,000 tons foundries, principally Lehigh, and small lots of gray forge sold on terms we did dot learn.

Manufactured Iron—Bar is dull, and many of the mills, it is said, will suspend operations about the first of July. We quote at 2 8-10@3c ⅌ ℔. New rails meet a limited demand at $60 00 at the works. Old rails are quoted at $36 00@38 00 ⅌ ton, and scrap is offered freely at $36 00@38 00 ⅌ ton. The last sale of cast was at $26 00 ⅌ ton.

Scotch Pig—Is held with more confidence, under the influence of an improvement in Europe. There is very little here. We quote Glengarnock at $45 00.

A Liverpool circular of the 16th inst. says: "The market has fluctuated but little recently. There is still a great scarcity of shipping brands. The labor question is in a most unsettled state, and unless speedily settled, there will be an almost total cessation of production. Furnaces are being damped down and preparations made for a reduction of make of pig iron to a minimum."

Nails—Are depressed.

Old Metals—Are inactive. We quote—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Brass, light | @13 c | Copper, h'vy. | @22¼c |
| Brass, heavy, | @18 c | Zinc | @ 5¼c |
| Copper, light.17½@23 | c | Lead 6 | @ 6¼c |
| Anchors | @ 9 c | Chains | @ 6¼c |

—Price Current.

BALTIMORE.

May 30.—The market for pig is dull, and we learn of no movement beyond small sales for foundry purposes. We quote as follows: Anthracite at $33 00 ⅌ ton for No. 1; $32 00 for No. 2, and $29 00 for No. 3. Baltimore charcoal forge at $43 00, and Scotch pig nominally at $45 00 ⅌ ton from yard.—American.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

[Specially reported by cable for the Iron Age.]

WEDNESDAY, May 27, 1874.

Scotch Pig—The market is quiet, with a steady demand, and a fair amount of business. Prices are firm. Coltness is now 120s.

Rails—The market continues dull, with but little demand, and prices nominally unchanged, viz.: £8 5s@£9 for Welsh.

Manufactured Iron—Best Staffordshire bars may be quoted at £11@£12.

MIDDLESBOROUGH, May 12.—At the usual weekly meeting of the Iron trade to-day, a very dull feeling pervaded the market. The prices of pig iron are advancing, owing to scarcity, and to-day No. 3 was quoted at 67s 6d@70s, and No. 4 about 60s@61s, net cash. Practically, however, fresh business is not being undertaken, most being satisfied if they can get their present orders executed, which generally is a somewhat dubious matter. For the last two or three days there has been quite an exodus of miners from some parts of the districts in search of work elsewhere. The mine owners to-day sustain their previous action in refusing to let the men go in except at the reduction. The feeling is general that the strike is not likely to terminate till the men are tired out.

GLASGOW, May 12.—(From Messrs. Wm. Colvin & Co's Report).—There was considerable activity in the warrant market during the latter part of last week the price fluctuated betwixt 85s and 89s, and closed on Friday afternoon at 85s 6d. This week the tone has not been so good, and yesterday business was done from 84s to 82s. To-day the opening price was 82s 6d, and it steadily improved up to 85s 3d, which was the closing quotation. The trade remains in a most unsatisfactory state. Good ordinary No. 1 may be quoted at 87@90s, No 3, 85@87s.

Baltimore Market.

BALTIMORE, May 30.—Flour dull and lower; Howard street and western superfine $4 50@5 25; extra $5 50@6 50. Wheat steady and unchanged. Corn easier at 77@80c. Oats dull; Western mixed 62@63c; white 64@65c. Rye firm at $1 10@1 12. Provisions dull and nominally unchanged. Butter unchanged. Coffee—There is an improved demand and higher; fair to prime Rio 17@19½c. Whisky quiet at 95c@$1 00.

WOOL MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

May 30.—The market is only moderately active, but generally firm. Manufacturers purchase mainly small lines of stock, but offerings are quite light, and there is no pressure to sell. Receipts of the new clip are very small, and they are quickly absorbed at very full prices. The transactions are: 27,000 ℔s new Texas on private terms; 2,000 ℔s do at 35c; 4,000 ℔s do at 31½c; 3,000 ℔s Texas at 22c; 9,000 ℔s scoured Texas on private terms; 20,000 ℔s spring California at 32c; 10,600 ℔s do and 30 bales do on private terms; 15,000 ℔s fall do at 24½c; 17,000 ℔s free Georgia on private terms; 1,000 ℔s slightly burry do at 30c; 5,000 ℔s scoured at 68c; 1,000 ℔s unwashed new Virginia at 43c; 6,000 ℔s Ohio fleeces at 52c; 3,000 ℔s Michigan fleeces at 52c; 3,000 ℔s unwashed fleeces at 37c; 2,000 ℔s domestic noils on private terms; 2,000 ℔s heavy fleeces at 42c; 50 bales Port Philip at 53c; 50 bales do at 54c; 20,000 ℔s Australian on private terms.—Journal of Commerce.

May 27.—The market has exhibited considerable activity since our last, and prices throughout have been fully maintained. The demand has not been wholly from manufacturers, as dealers have to some extent also purchased. Foreign clothing wools have sold quite freely, but carpet are neglected. Of the Cape that arrived per Emma, only 150 bales is on the market; the balance was imported for manufacturers' account. Spring California is rather slow of sale, owing to the high views of holders. Advices from San Francisco state that the new spring is finding ready sale at full figures, viz., 18@26c, and that a very choice lot of 100,000 ℔s sold at Red Bluff at 30½c, but the latter is not a fair criterion of the market. The sales comprise 95 bales Australian at 50@54c; 81 do Montevideo, for Boston, 36½c; 25 do Mexican, 21c; 129 bales Cape, 33¾@37½c; 8,000 ℔s mixed, 29c; 11,200 ℔s X and super pulled, 42@48c; 4,000 ℔s Eastern Texas 28@29c; 6,000 ℔s scoured, 75c; 7,000 ℔s coarse fleece, 47c; 2,500 ℔s scoured, 52c; 3,000 ℔s low do, 72c; 15,000 ℔s super California, 48½c; 94 bales spring California, 30@32c; 53 do fall and lambs do, 22½@25c; 5,000 ℔s heavy do, 20c.—Shipping List.

MONONGAHELA—Four feet.

Boats Advertised to Depart.

Brownsville and Geneva—Morning boat, 8 A. M.; evening, 4 P. M.
Wheeling....Mallie Ragon...Williamson, 1 P. M.
Cincinnati....Esperanza....Dunlavy, 4 P. M.

THE marks last evening indicated four feet and falling. The weather was very warm. We had a slight rain during the evening.

The Ironsides, of Gray's Iron Line, is receiving for St. Louis and way points.

THE steamer Exchange has concluded to paint and fix up for the summer trade.

THE propeller Barnhardt, recently sunk at the Newport wharf, is again doing service in the harbor.

THE Laura F. Davis ran through herself at Foster's coming down Thursday night, breaking her starboard cylinder.

THE wrecking boat Charlie Hill, is alongside of the sunken steamer Allegheny Belle, trying to recover her machinery.

THE packet Granite State, Capt. Kerr, leaves Portsmouth this day for this city. Her day of departure is Friday at 3 P. M.

MESSRS. JAMES & PEPPER are fitting up a barge at Rising Sun, to contain the Panorama of the Bible, for exhibition on the lower coast.

THE packet Carrie Brooks, Captain H. Darlington, will be found at the landing. She will return to Zanesville on Tuesday at 4 P. M.

THE fine steamer Andes, Captain Muhleman, leaves Bellair for Cincinnati on Tuesday on the arrival of the 1:28 P. M. train from this city. The Andes is an A No. 1 boat in all respects.

THE purchase of the Bermuda for the Kanawha trade was not consummated at Evansville, and Capt. Will Rocke and party have returned home.

SPECIAL.—The packet R. W. Skillinger, Capt. J. T. Russell, on account of Saturday being a legal holiday, will defer her departure until Tuesday at 12 M., at which time she will positively depart.

THE punctual steamer Mallie Ragon, Captain Williamson, takes her departure this day at 1 P. M. for Wheeling and way points. Mr. H. C. Caldwell, who has charge of the office, will see that passengers are well cared for.

THE St. Louis Globe says: "Captain John W. Carroll has purchased all of Captain John Boffinger's stock—eighty-five shares—in the St. Louis and New Orleans Packet wharf-boat. Price not transpired."

ST. LOUIS Republican, 28th: "It is strongly rumored that owing to the present low water there will be an advance to twenty cents per one hundred on pound freight and forty cents per barrel on flour to New Orleans."

THE Mobile Register says: "No authentic details of the sinking of the steamer Clara have as yet been received at steamboat headquarters. The Maggie C., from the Little Bigbee, will be in to-morrow, when we hope to be able to lay all the facts before our readers. We understand the boat is a total loss, and her cargo considerably damaged."

Saturday's Louisville Courier-Journal says: "The new wharfage ordinance, passed by the City Council, Thursday night, will be signed by the Mayor to-day and become a law, and go into effect Monday, the first day of June."

THE Evansville Journal of Thursday says: "James Odell has sold and transferred his four-sixths interests in the gravel-digger Bridge Tender, as follows: Three-sixths to Captain Ed. C. Murray, and one-sixth to Stearns Hatch, at the rate of $6,500 for the whole boat."

THE splendid passenger steamer Esperanza, Captain J. P. Dunlavey, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville this day. This boat has the best of accommodations, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Captain J. B. Conway has charge of the office.

THE splendid passenger steamer R. W. Skillinger, Capt. J. T. Russell, takes her departure Tuesday at 12 M., for Cincinnati and Louisville. This boat has the best of accommodations, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Mr. C. B. Russell will be found in the office.

THE Gallipolis Journal contains the following: "Capt. Lon. Bryson has purchased the steamer R. W. Dugan, and will, it is said, place her in the Kanawha and Cincinnati trade. Two packets in this trade is getting back to old times, and shows that business is either increasing, or else the railroad has lost its hold upon the class of freight that the trade offers."

THE rates on the slack water to all points will be reduced just one-half, commencing this day June 1st as follows: To Monongahela City fifty cents; Webster seventy-five cents; Brownsville, one dollar; Rice Landing, one dollar and fifty cents; Geneva, two dollars, meals extra. They can be had on board at reasonable prices. There will be no charge for the use of staterooms. These are certainly very low rates for patrons. Call on Captain A. S. Carlisle on the wharf-boat.

THE Memphis Avalanche says: "The price for which the Thompson Dean sold at her court sale would not pay for her cabin furniture and table ware, which is the finest and most complete that ever made a part of a Western steamer's outfit. It is reported that the vessel sunk nearly $30,000 during the seven or eight trips she made the past season, and that James Pepper, her late commander, goes out of her without a dollar. Captain Pepper is a clever and deservedly popular man, and in his financial ill-luck has the sympathy of a host of friends. He is active, able, and a good business man, and will yet come out all right."

THE Memphis Register says: Gen. King White and his wife were passengers down on the Belle of Texas, from Pine Bluff to White's plantation, last Friday. He had also some of his cavalry on board, who were on their way home. On this trip up, the Belle of Texas will receive a new flag from the Pine Bluffers, and will be presented also with a set of resolutions thanking the boat's officers for their neutral position in the late struggle, and especially thanking Capt. Woodburn for that speech he made in response to the brass band serenade given to the boat at Pine Bluff the night she left there. As a 'responder' Old Rest is said by those who heard him, to be a perfect success, and that perhaps with the assistance of his two clerks, Butler and Willis, has made his boat popular up the Arkansaw.

BISMARCK, D. T., May 26, 1874.

To the Editor of the St. Louis Globe:

I had a short interview with pilots of the Peninah. They report she left Carroll on the morning of the 21st; met the Western at Trover's Point at 6 P. M. On the 22d, 7 P. M., met the May Laurie above Spread Eagle bar; on the 23d, the Nellie Peck, seven miles below Buford at 2 P. M. The same evening, 7 P. M., the Josephine and Far West together. On Sunday evening, the 24th, the Key West, at Berthold. Yesterday, the 25th, met the Ida Stockdale near Knife river, feeling her way along. She left on Thursday ahead of the Josephine and Key West.

The Peninah will load again for Carroll, and it as long in delivering this cargo as the last trip, the Montana merchants will be biting their finger-nails off, or pulling all their hair out. She was out only forty-six days this last trip, keeping the bull-train of [R] awaiting so long that the young cottonwoods all have fallen, and bull-bones rising. River has risen here near a foot since Saturday night. A telegram from Benton announces the arrival of Fontanelle on the 20th inst. Yours, etc.,

A. HERRING.

WE CONTINUE our extracts from the Navigator published in 1811. After describing Nashville, on the Cumberland, "a town of 200 houses, and whose citizens are attending to the establishment of such manufactures as will tend to render them independent and happy in spite of wars and the impudence, wickedness and aggressions of foreign nations, either of the English, French, Tartars, or any other party-colored race upon earth," it goes on to say: "There is a line of barges constantly running from Nashville to New Orleans, loaded down with the rich produce of Tennessee, and up with sugar, coffee, rice, hides, liquors, dry goods, etc., conducted principally by Mr. Spriggs, a very active and industrious trader, and from long habit is the most expert conductor of a barge of any person on the river. These add facility to trade and commerce and gives employment to a number of active hardy men. Boats conducted by the steam principle would most probably be more advantageous, and save immense manual labor. The day is not distant, I hope, when the citizens of Nashville will see a steamboat winding her course up the Cumberland, in all the majesty and nobleness of her internal and secreted power, without the assistance of poles, oars or sails. It wants nothing to do this but the spirit of beginning." Steamboatmen have pranks played upon them occasionally as well as other people. A case in point has just occurred on one of our popular officers, Captain O'Neal of the steamer Capitol City. When the boat was about to leave Cairo on Saturday evening a woman carrying a baby took passage. The woman left the boat at Chester, apparently having the child in her arms. Two days subsequently the child about four weeks old, was found lying and kicking at the back of an upper berth. The colored chambermaid has the child and says she will not give it up to any but a "respectable" person. The officers of the boat believe the woman was hired for the purpose of disposing of the child in the manner related. The supposed child she carried off the boat was a dummy.

The New Tow Boat Coal Hill.

This powerful towboat is just off Isaac Reed's docks Manchester, where she has been rebuilt. The following dimensions may be of interest to the general reader: Length 170 feet, beam 28 feet, hold 5 feet. The material used in the construction of the hull was selected with great care. The hull is extra timbered and fastened, in fact no expense has been spared. The engines are 22 inches in diameter, with 8 feet stroke, containing all the latest and best improvements. The boilers are five in number, 38 inches in diameter, 28 feet long. They were built by Messrs. D. W. C. Carroll & Co., whose name is a sufficient guarantee that they are first-class. She is also furnished with "Perkin's Patent Surface Blow" for the purpose of keeping her boilers clean. This is said to be one of the best inventions of the age, and has been highly recommended by leading manufacturers of this city who have given it fair trial. In a word, no expense has been spared and the new Coal Hill to-day is one of the best and completest boats afloat. She is intended for the Pittsburgh and St. Louis towing trade, and will leave on the first rise. The Coal Hill is owned by Messrs. Mahan and Porter of New Cumberland, West Virginia.

The old Coal Hill made the run from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, with ten barges in tow, in three days and eighteen hours, said to be the fastest time on record. If the old boat made the run in that time with four boilers, we may look for a large increase in speed from the additional boiler.

In building towboats Pittsburgh can beat the world. The new Coal Hill will now be added to our fleet of 12 towboats, and will rank as A No. 1 in all respects. The owners have our best wishes for success. Messrs. Phillips, Nimick & Co. made the iron for the Coal Hill's boilers; it is branded Sligo Special, sixty thousand pounds stencil strength.

MEDICAL.

SPEEDILY CURED!
ALL forms of Venereal, Private and Nervous Diseases at the old established Girard Medical Institute, No. 172 Second avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia and all urinary diseases are cured in the shortest possible time that will insure permanent relief. Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness or Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth or excess in maturer years, and which produce some of the following effects, as emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, nervousness, dimness of sight, cough, indigestion, constipation, despondency, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, loss of memory and sexual power, and which unfits the victim for business or marriage, and ultimately causing insanity and consumption, are thoroughly and permanently cured. Medicines supplied at the Institute. A medical pamphlet relating to private diseases sent in sealed envelope for two stamps. All communications confidential.
Patients treated by mail or express, but when possible it is best to visit the city for personal consultation, or address
GIRARD MEDICAL INSTITUTE,
No. 172 Second avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 7 P. M. Sundays by appointment.

DR. WHITTIER, 296 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., continues to treat with his usual great success, all Private Diseases. Perfect cures guaranteed. Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness, resulting from self-abuse or sexual excess, producing nervous debility, night emissions, despondency, dizziness, dimness of sight, pimples on the face, weakness of mind and body, and final impotency, loss of sexual power, sterility, &c., unfitting the victim for marriage or business, and rendering life miserable, are permanently cured in shortest possible time. Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture (all forms) consisting of skin eruptions, ulcers, &c., are perfectly cured, and the blood-poison thoroughly eradicated from the system. DR. WHITTIER is a regular graduate of medicine, as his diploma at office shows; his life-long special experience in all private diseases, with purest medicine prepared by himself, enables him to cure difficult cases after others fail. It is self-evident that a physician treating thousands of cases every year acquires great skill. Consultation and correspondence private. Pamphlet sent sealed for stamp. Medicines sent everywhere. Office hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 to 1 P. M. "True Marriage Guide," 260 pages, fine illustrations. A book for private, careful reading, by both sexes, married or single, explaining wonders and mysteries of sexual system, reproduction, marriage impediments, &c., causes, consequence and cure. Price 50 cents, at office, or by mail, sent securely sealed. DR. WHITTIER, 296 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRIVATE DISEASE—OFFICE NO. 194 PENN STREET, next door to St. Clair Hotel. For the cure of all diseases of a private nature in from two to four days, by an entirely new and safe treatment. ## CITY MATTERS.

Probably Fatal Accident.

A little son of Mr. Franz, who resides on Heckelman street, Troy Hill, Allegheny, while chasing a colt about six o'clock P. M., was kicked by the animal's maternal ancestor, on the head. His skull was fractured, and the doctors think he cannot recover.

Grand Balloon Exhibitions.

Mr. Jno. M. Kinney the well-known balloon manager, is in the city, making arrangements for a series of grand balloon ascensions, comprising a balloon wedding. An ascension on horseback, also with two horses and carriage, and other novelties. The exhibition will take place at Union Park, June 20th and 27th, and on the Fourth of July. Mr. Kinney was here in 1867 and gave similar exhibitions.

Found Dead In Bed.

Coroner McCallin yesterday held an inquest on the body of William McIntosh, who was found dead in his bed on Sunday morning at his residence in Mattox alley, Fourth ward. Deceased had been suffering from rheumatism for some time, but went to bed Saturday night at about nine o'clock in his usual health. Dr. Rex was called, and after examination of the body testified before the coroners jury his belief that the death was caused by rheumatism of the heart, and a verdict in accordance therewith was rendered. Mr. McIntosh was a blacksmith by trade, sixty-nine years of age and leaves a wife and three grown up children.

The Hamnett Butchery.

Ortwein, the murderer of the Hamnetts, wants one American and one German lawyer to defend him at his approaching trial, which is set down for Tuesday a week from to-morrow. Already intimations are thrown out that his counsel, whoever they may be, will make a strenuous effort to have the trial postponed, principally on technical grounds. It is also asserted, and freely, too, that the plea of emotional insanity will be put forward in the case. Evidently the Coroner's jury, that rendered the verdict as to the cause and manner of the quintuple murder, anticipated such a legal extenuation.

Little Boy Drowned.

A little boy named Alexander Edmunds, five years of age, residing with his parents in Shaler township, was drowned on Saturday evening in the Allegheny river. His father is a lumber measurer, and was engaged upon a raft at about five o'clock, when the little fellow visited him. The boy approached the end of the boat at the rudder and accidentally fell in, going immediately under the raft, so that he could not be rescued. The raft was moved and the river dragged, but it was not till half past eight o'clock Sunday morning that the body was recovered. Coroner McCallin held an inquest yesterday, when a verdict of accidental drowning was rendered.

Another Case of Drowning.

We have to record still another case of accidental drowning in the Allegheny river, this time near Harmarville on the West Penn railroad. Two young men named George Cauft and Mark Walker went into the river at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, to bathe. Walker could swim a little but Cauft none at all. They got out into the current and becoming alarmed called for help. Walker with difficulty reached shallow water but his companion got beyond his depth and was drowned. The river was dragged with a net and at two o'clock yesterday morning the body was found. The coroners jury returned the usual verdict in such cases.

Music in the Public Schools.

A well known educator writes as follows to the South Side Herald regarding music in the public schools. The City Superintendent recommends, in his last annual report, that four of the six music teachers employed for the schools of the city be dispensed with, and two retained to serve merely as supervisors of the musical teaching, which is to be done by the teachers of the other branches. We regard this as unwise and uncalled for as well as a very feeble attempt at economy. The average monthly enrollment of pupils is over sixteen thousand; the pay of the music teachers amounts to seven thousand two hundred dollars per year, and during the year each pupil gets about forty lessons of three-fourths of an hour each. This makes the cost per lesson to each pupil about one and one eighth cents. Now we cannot think that our citizens are so destitute of music in the soul as to regard this as an extravagant expenditure. To dismiss the music teachers is to put musical culture out of the schools, for very few of the other teachers can teach music successfully. They have neither the time nor the ability. Music should be regarded as a special branch, and its teaching should be committed to special teachers. The present arrangement is working well, and we trust the authorities will be wise enough to let "well enough alone."

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The famous minstrel troupe of Simmons and Slocum will be at the Opera House all this week. Their fame is too well known for an extended notice of their merit. The programme announced embraces all the recognized features of this class of entertainments, with many novel features which will attract large audiences. We counsel the procuring of reserved seats, where nothing that is good to see or hear may be lost. Read the advertisement and attend the performance this evening.

Academy of Music.

At the Academy this evening, Mr. John Stetson's novelty company, from Boston, will make its first appearance in this city: It is made up solely of popularity, such as Maffitt and Bartholomew, pantomimists; Gus. Williams, the great comic singer; J. W. McAndrews and Luke Schoolcraft negro comedians; Prof. Nelson and sons, acrobats; Adah Richmond, Helene Smith, Blanche Selwyn, Austin and Hess, Mackin and Wilson, Sam. Rickey and Master Barney. The programme will be made up of comedy, pantomime, songs, dances, etc.

Trimble's Varieties Theater.

A new company will be found at this theater to-night and during the week, consisting of Niles and Evans, Ellen Saunders, M. C. Healey, Hurley and Marr, Mayella brothers, Lawrence brothers, Annie Hindle, Lizzy Clifton, G. W. Herman, H. W. Williams and others. The bill will embrace an olio and a comic drama.

Martin's New Variety Theater.

Messrs. Mall and Hawley head the list of new people announced at this house for the current week, and are followed by Alice Gilmore, Miss May Florentine, Miss Rose Lee, Frank Gibbons, Master Eddie, Harry Hart, Johnny Shay, Nellie Maskell, Lizzie Conway, Maggie Moston, Valentine Love, George Conway, Charles Harrington and others. Good bills are promised every night.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

First Anniversary Observance of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church.

The first anniversary of the consolidation of the First and Union Baptist churches, of this city, forming the Fourth avenue Baptist church, will be observed this, Monday evening, June 1st, when services of an interesting character will be held in the chapel of the handsome edifice on Fourth avenue, between Grant and Ross streets. The order of exercises will be as follows:

7 P. M.—Exhibition of design for the new premises, auditorium, pastors, etc.

7:30.—Devotional exercises, by Rev. B. F. Woodburn and Rev. J. D. Herr.

8—Ten minutes' review by the pastor Rev. B. W. Pearson, D.D.

8:15—Memorial services, by Rev. Pointdexter S. Henson, D.D., of Philadelphia.

Closing prayer by Rev. J. S. Hutson. Original hymns for the occasion will be supplied at the service. The attendance of members of the various churches of the city are most cordially invited.

The attendance of Rev. Pointdexter S. Hanson, D.D., of Philadelphia, will doubtless attract many friends.

THE MILITARY.

Saturday's Parade—A Creditable Turnout.

Pursuant to announcement, the local military turned out on parade Saturday afternoon, and marched over the published route to Irwin avenue, Allegheny, where division review and inspection took place. The troops marched in the following order:

General A. L. Pearson, commander, with mounted staff, consisting of Colonel H. P. Hays, Colonel J. M. Moore, Colonel E. C. Negley, Major B. F. Kennedy, and Captain W. Stewart.

FIRST BRIGADE.

General Charles Miller in command, and staff, preceded by a martial band.

Jefferson Cavalry, Captain Large in command.

Washington Cornet Band.

Washington Infantry, Captain McFarland in command.

Douglas Zouaves (colored), Lieut. Harkins in command, preceded by Regimental Band.

SECOND BRIGADE.

General Joseph Browne and staff.

Knap's Battery, Captain James McGill in command.

St. Cecelia Brass Band.

Fourteenth Regiment, Colonel Hill in command.

Phillips' Zouaves, Capt. Fox in command.

Ardary Zouaves.

Great Western Band.

Oil City Greys, Captain J. A. Wiley in command.

Duquesne Greys, Col. N. P. Guthrie in command.

The display was highly creditable and was witnessed by a vast concourse of spectators along the entire route. The Greys came in, as usual, for their share of flattering commendation.

COURT CALENDAR.

List of Prisoners in the County Jail Awaiting Trial—The Charges Against Them.

Following is a list of prisoners now in the County Jail awaiting trial, together with the charges against them. The June term of the Criminal Court opens to-day, when the calendar will be taken up:

There are now one hundred and thirty-five prisoners in the jail under care of Warden Smith forty one of whom are summarily convicted. There are twenty females in all, in jail.

NOT FORGOTTEN.

Floral Offerings on the Graves of Our Dead Heroes.

Their Memory Honored by Every Mark of Affection.

Flowers, Music, Poetry and Orations.

A GENERAL OBSERVANCE OF DECORATION DAY.

The beautiful and touching ceremonies connected with the decoration of the graves of our fallen heroes—those noble men who offered their lives as a sacrifice for the nation—were very generally participated in by all classes of citizens, on Saturday, May 30th. There seems to be no abatement of the interest attaching to these services. The memory of our dead soldiers is ever green in the hearts of the people, and when the holiday comes round they deem it a sacred duty to make fragrant their graves by strewing them with the richest and choicest flowers.

The streets were thronged at an early hour; nearly all kinds of work had been suspended; flags were displayed on public and private buildings; and from the profusion of flowers seen on all hands, and in all hands, the recurrence of Decoration day became apparent to all.

Allegheny Cemetery.

In this beautiful spot, thirteen hundred soldiers sleep their last sleep, and thousands assembled to do honor to their memory.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Hays Post, No. 3, G. A. R., under Commander Gray, arrived at the main entrance and preceded by the Cathedral Band, marched to the Gen. Hay's monument, where they awaited the arrival of McPherson, Post No. 117, of East Liberty.

After a brief delay, Post McPherson, Capt. Aull commanding, arrived at the monument, having decorated a short time previously the graves of the Union dead at the Frankstown graveyard, and the cemetery attached to the East Liberty Presbyterian Church.

Both Posts, preceded by the Cathedral Band and followed by an immense concourse of people, then marched through the cemetery, decorating all the graves in the order of their approach. Having gathered beneath a large elm, amid the graves of many soldiers, the formal services began:

POST COMMANDER GRAY'S ADDRESS.

After forming a cordon with the posts around the graves, Post Commander Crosby Gray delivered the following address:

COMRADES AND FRIENDS: We are about to decorate with flowers and honor with fitting ceremonies the graves of comrades who are buried here, who served with us in defense of our country during its terrible trial. We meet for no empty show or useless parade, but to testify full and overflowing hearts, that the remembrance of their sacrifices has not grown dim with passing years.

Standing by their resting places with bowed heads, we can recall the unselfish devotion of the men who fell that liberty might live, and that the government, bequeathed as a heritage by our patriot fathers, might not perish from the earth.

We are not here to glory in the victories of the past, nor to stir up the hot blood by the recital of our comrade's valor. We have buried the animosities and hate engendered by the war, and we desire rather to forget all, save the good in the past, whilst we renew our inflexible purpose to maintain the government, saved by the devotion of our comrades.

Here is the fitting place to call to mind the men who with us stood guard over the nation, to think of the charge some comrade died repelling, some terrible leaden shower that smote him by our side, some prison pen, where dying, he still prayed for God's fair land, and to show that the love of Union and liberty was not laid aside when the battle flags were furled, and the sword laid by to rest.

As then we scatter earth's fairest emblems, life's fitting symbol, upon our comrades' graves, as stalwart men, and gentle women, and little children bedeck the soldier's graves with flowers and bedew them with tears, the world shall know that the humblest of our slain comrades has a crown of remembrance, brighter and more enduring than the diadem of kings.

The Cathedral band here played a beautiful dirge, which was followed by the ode,

"Tenting to-night," which was chanted with fine effect by Mrs. G. W. Leazear and Miss. M. Cassidy, of Christ church choir.

Prayer was then offered by the Rev. B. F. Brooke, D.D.

Christ church choir then chanted a beautiful ode.

There were then special decorations, with brief addresses from comrades Hague, MacConnell, Grayson, and others.

The choir the chanted: "Cover them over with beautiful flowers," etc., followed by a dirge from the band.

ORATION BY S. P. FULTON, ESQ.

The orator of the occasion, S. P. Fulton, Esq., then advanced to the front, and, after referring to the solemn occasion which brought them together, paid an eloquent tribute to the patriot dead who laid down their lives that the Republic might live. Many of them stood shoulder to shoulder with you in the great conflict, and to-day it is fitting that you should meet together and strew floral offerings on their graves. They left their pleasures and their prospects, and their life went out on the battlefield for our sakes. Nearly a decade has passed since they offered their lives in sacrifice, and since then their children have grown up to manhood and womanhood, and many of them meet with us to-day to keep green their memories forever.

I trust we will never cease to decorated the graves containing the ashes of those who died in the great crisis of the nation's life. It is also a matter of gratification to note that the day has been set apart forever by our Legislature as a legal holiday and the appropriate commemoration of the patriot dead. Another feature for which I thank God, has come to pass, is that in many places to-day the graves of our erring brethren who fell in the great conflict will be decorated by the "boys in blue." This, indeed, is a triumph of charity, of benevolence and of patriotism, a consummation devoutly to be wished, and tending to bring on the genuine reconciliation so much desired by all sections. I trust that the ceremony of decoration may continue and grow through all the coming years, and that the flag of our Union may wave forever over a united country.

THE CHILDREN DECORATING.

While the decoration services were in progress on the "flats," a delegation of two hundred and fifty children, from the Fifteenth ward Public School, were engaged in decorating the graves "on the heights."

VISIT TO ST. MARY'S CEMETERY.

After decorating the graves in the Allegheny Cemetery, a detail from each Post visited St. Mary's Cemetery, where some three hundred graves were decorated, but no oration or special services took place.

IN ALLEGHENY.

The parks presented a very beautiful appearance, the rains of the previous day having freshened and brightened vegetation, and freed the streets from dust. The floral decorations on Hampton monument, the handiwork of those skilful florists, Messrs. J. R. & A. Murdoch, were specially noticeable. The procession formed shortly after nine o'clock, and marched to the base of the Soldiers' Monument on Seminary Hill, headed by the A. P. Callow Brass Band, eighteen pieces, Daniel Bradford, leader. Carriages containing Mayor Fleming, Rev. B. Snyder, Col. Richard Realf and others.

Post 88, G. A. R., Captain W. W. Tyson in command, seventy-five men in full uniform.

Oil City Greys, thirty-five men, commanded by Captain J. A. Wiley and Lientenant R. B. Magee and Thos. A. McLaughlin. This body of men presented a very fine appearance, and until the procession reached Ridge street, preceded Post 88, where they took the second position in line.

Third ward cadets—forty boys—in uniform and wreaths, commanded by Major F. Torrens.

Children of various public schools including a detachment of colored children from the Sherman avenue school.

While on Ridge avenue the school children divided their ranks and sang "America" as the remainder of the procession passed through.

ON THE HILL.

Arriving on the hill the audience gathered about the stand which had been erected for the prominent participants in the ceremonies. After a dirge had been played by the band, the assemblage sang "Old Hundred," the "Grand Army Hymn" commencing,

"Blest are the martyred dead who lie,
In the holy graves for freedom won."

The singing was led by Captain Cornelius, Miss Jessie Cornelius presiding at the organ. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. W. H. Gill, of the Central Presbyterian church, after which the school children sang, "They Sleep in the Valley."

The Rev. E. B. Snyder, pastor of the North avenue M. E. church, and the orator of the day, was then introduced by Capt. Tyson.

THE ORATION.

The Rev. E. B. Snyder then delivered the oration, which was a very able and patriotic production, and was closely listened to throughout.

MISS NICHOL'S ODE.

The original poem composed by Miss Sue P. Nichol, Principal of Mt. Albion schools, was read by Col. Richard Realf, of the COMMERCIAL, as follows:

When burst the shell o'er Sumter's wall,
That sped from hands of Southern foemen,
Out flashed Rebellion at the call;
Up sprang the hardy Northern yeomen.
From lake-bound shore the legions come,
From ocean main, and broad Sierras;
The gathering hosts, at warning drum,
Sweep eastward o'er the wide prairies.

Columbia, peerless queen of worlds!
Reels 'neath the blows that should defend her.
Her diadem of starry pearls
Asunder torn and dimmed in splendor.
Her wayward Southern sons in rage,
With haughty pride and blinded reason,
Fling at her feet the vaunting gage,
And stain her flag with blood and treason.

Well may those mustering thousands go,
Well may each loyal heart beat faster,
For streams of patriot blood must flow,
To stem the tide of war's disaster.
And never yet was insult met
With swifter doom, or vengeance juster;
And never were heroes' names be set
On scroll of fame in brighter lustre.

Oh foulest wrong to proudest flag
That never kindled love of freemen!
Or, floating high as mountain crag,
Spread wide its folds to shelter seamen.
Mount higher then, and prouder wave,
Shine out in stripes of added splendor,
For bond of every fettered slave
Was rent by blood of brave defender.

Where sleep they now, and who shall tell
The graves that wrap their dreamless slumbers?
Not till the ocean waves shall swell
Its requiem song of countless numbers;
Not till the east wind, murmuring by,
Shall bring to us the mournful story,
Of whispered prayer and latest sigh,
When life ebbed out on field of glory.

No fitter meed to honored dead
Than flowery nature's first donation,
Culled from a soil so richly fed
By blood poured out in pure libation!
Then weave sweet flowers and immortelle,
O'er sodded mound and lettered marble,
And re-wakened dirges swell,
To blend with notes of song bird's warble.

And offering these shall we forget
That many a sleeper, still and pallid
Fills nameless grave, no tear has wet,
Nor woman's tender touch has hallowed?
Then tears for these—and flowers for all,
In graves strewn here, or scattered yonder,
Where kiss of love may never fall,
Or foot of friend, or foeman wander.

Oh holy Peace! sweet white-winged dove!
On altar here, lay thy oblation
Of olive branches—linked with love
To bind anew, a sundered nation.
No more the blue or gray, beyond
Where war or human strife may sever,
But one, broad brotherhood, in bond
They live forever, and forever.

Then followed a song by the choir, the Doxology, (long metre) and a benediction by the Rev. Joseph King, which concluded the exercises of the forenoon.

In the afternoon, Post 88 visited Uniondale Cemetery, when flowers were strewn on all the soldiers graves.

South Side Observance.

The day was duly observed on the South Side, nearly all the manufacturing establishments being suspended, and the streets and business houses being handsomely decorated with flags and evergreens. The different Sunday schools assembled at their usual place of meeting, and repaired in a body to the several burial places. Post 151 G. A. R., assembled at their hall corner of Carson and Fourteenth streets, and with a number of societies and Sunday Schools marched to Washington street, and from thence to Twentieth street, where the procession formed and marched down Carson street to the Brownsville turnpike, which leads to the different cemeteries of the South Side.

The principal ceremonies took place at the Catholic Cemetery. The opening address was then delivered by Post Commander, W. D. Jones, which was followed by an ode delivered by a member of the post. Rev. Father Frederick Long, of St. Nicholas church, conducted the religious exercises at this cemetery. The oration of the day was delivered by Rev J. B. Lucas, of the Birmingham street Methodist church, and was listened to with marked attention.

The new South Side cemetery, the Lutheran grave yard and Zimmerman's, the Lebanon Church-yard, and other cemeteries, were also visited simultaneously by the societies, schools and friends of the fallen heroes, and the work of decorating the graves was proceeded with. The committee of Post 151, were Messrs. J. B. Davis, T. Shields, J. R. Vance and Isaac Cline.

At the Catholic graveyard the singing of the Memorial Hymn by the Sunday-school children was executed with beautiful effect, and added to the beauty and solemnity of the occasion.

The Doxology was pronounced by Rev. L. McGuire, of the Bingham street M. E. Church, which concluded the exercises on the South Side.

THE CLARK MONUMENT.

Dedicatory Services at Cadiz, Ohio—Unveiling the Statue of Col. John B. Clark, Allegheny's Great War Preacher.

The history of the late Col. John B. Clark, the gallant commander of the One Hundred and Twenty-third Pennsylvania Volunteers during the late war, and formerly pastor of the Second U. P. church, Allegheny, is too well known to our readers, to be rehearsed. Col. Clark was one of those rare men of mark who distinguish each century; his services in the pulpit, on the rostrum and in the field, will never be erased from history's pages.

His death on January 13, 1872; his burial at Cadiz, Ohio; the project to raise a monument to his memory, are recent events. On Saturday (Decoration Day), the Clark memorial statue was unveiled in the presence of a vast concourse of friends from all sections, especially from Allegheny, where Colonel Clark was so well known and so highly esteemed. About two o'clock on Saturday afternoon a procession was formed in Cadiz, and headed by a committee of ex-veterans under command of Colonel John S. Pearce, bearing the tattered and torn battle flags of the Thirteenth, Thirtieth, Forty-third, Sixty-ninth, Seventy-fourth, Ninety-eighth and One hundred and twenty-sixth regiments O. V. I., proceeded to the cemetery, a short distance south of the town, while the slow tolling of the church and Court House bells proclaimed the solemnity of the occasion.

Arriving at the base of the monument heretofore described, Rev. A. H. Norcross, of the M. E. Church, officiated as orator of the day on behalf of the citizens, and delivered an eloquent and brilliant address, recounting the toils, tribulations and sufferings of the soldiers, and eulogizing them for their glorious achievements. After this, Rev. T. H. Hanna, of Pittsburgh, delivered the address in behalf of the friends of Col. Clark. He spoke of the deceased in the highest terms of praise, setting forth the prominent events of his life in an elegant and impressive manner. The excellence of this address is attested by the fact that, notwithstanding there was every appearance of a sudden shower of rain, the crowd lingered near until its close. The large concourse of people then gathered around the monument and admired its excellent proportions and beauty of finish. The grave was literally covered with beautiful bouquets and wreaths of flowers. While this was going on the committee under command of Col. Pearce, went through the cemetery and tastefully decorated the graves of the soldiers. At the close of these exercises the assembly was dismissed with prayer and returned to town. It was intended to have speeches from W. C. Smythe, of Allegheny, and others, but owing to the threatening appearance of the weather these were dispensed with. After returning from the cemetery a meeting of the Association was held; the monument formally accepted from the hands of the contractors, and the business of the association entirely closed up.

Dangerously Injured.

About half-past three o'clock on Saturday afternoon as a freight train was rounding the curve on the Allegheny Valley Railroad at Hussey's coal yard, Sixteenth street, the engine accidentally jumped the track, and dashed in on a tressle where some empty cars were standing. The locomotive, tender and four cars were precipitated over the tressle, and badly used up. The engineer and train men miraculously escaped. James Doyle the fireman was terribly bruised about the head and body, and also received a terrible wound on the inside of the thigh, which is likely to result fatally. After being extricated from the wreck Doyle was carried to Speer's tavern, at the corner of Sixteenth and Penn where medical assistance was summoned, after which he was removed to his home, on Thirty-third street, where he has a wife and family. Doyle is a man about forty-five years of age, and has been railroading for the past sixteen years. He had been firing the present engine No. 13, for four years. The doctors say it is impossible for him to recover.

Competitive Drill.

This evening a competitive drill will take place at City Hall, between Company F, Duquesne Greys, Captain W. F. Aull, and a picked company from the same regiment, under command of Captain S. L. Fullwood. A large and select gathering of the friends of the regiment, both ladies and gentlemen, together with the members of the city councils and a large number of our distinguished military men.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

THE Pittsburgh Police Committee will meet this evening.

THE firemen will be paid off to-day for the month of May.

THE June term of the Court of Quarter Sessions begins to-day.

"TOM COLLINS" says it was not hot yesterday! Cremate him.

THE police pay roll for the month of May foots up $17,808 85.

THE hegira ruralwards yesterday afternoon and evening was unprecedented.

THE trial lists for the District and Common Pleas Courts, published on Saturday, will be called to-day.

ST. MICHAEL SOCIETY will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary on next Sabbath, June 7th.

ALL persons using the river bank on the South Side will be charged for wharfage, by order of the City Solicitor.

THE Evangelical Ministerial Association meet at two o'clock this afternoon, to discuss "Nineteenth Century Infidelity."

MICHAEL RODE, German, First street, Third ward, Allegheny—prostrate on Saturday from sun-stroke—expected to recover—first case this season hereabouts.

CORONER MCCALLIN held thirty inquests during May—one for every day in the month just closed except the final Sunday, which accident itself seems to have observed.

MRS. JOHN JOHNS, of Mount Washington, while viewing the military parade on Saturday afternoon, had her pocket book, containing her market money, stolen.

BILLY SCHARFF leaves for Peekskill, New York, on the 14th of June. He will go into training immediately after his arrival under David Carle, who accompanies him.

JACK ROONEY has been sent to the Workhouse for thirty days as a suspicious character. He was the party who tried but failed to "rope in" the elderly merchant as related in Saturday's COMMERCIAL.

DR. BEATTY, of Steubenville, President of the Board of Trustees of Washington and Jefferson College, has endowed the Latin Professorship of the College with twenty-two thousand dollars.

THE City Solicitor is to be asked for an opinion as to whether the Police Committee or City Property Committee should pay Deputy Mayor Barker for the use of his office as a police headquarters.

OUT of respect to the memory of the late President of the P. R. R., the West Penn Road will not receive or deliver freight to-day at its Allegheny freight depot. Shippers and consignees should remember this.

ORTWEIN, the murderer of the Hamnett family, has no counsel as yet. If unable to employ an attorney, the Court will assign him one, to see that he is fairly tried. It is not too harsh to say that in his case, counsel will be of very little service.

CORNELIUS DOUGHERTY and Peter McGlone, had a hearing before Alderman McMasters for attempting to rob James Mackrell who was sleeping off his potations at the corner of Penn street and Point alley, and were held for trial at Court.

IT is rumored that the directors of the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway Company contemplate soon reducing their fare on the road to five cents for cash passengers and four cents for tickets, or six tickets for twenty-five cents. Good!

THE State Fish Commissioners have informed persons residing in Greene county that they will proceed at once to stock the Monongahela and its principal tributaries with several varieties of piscatorial game. We are glad to hear this, and hope the promise will be faithfully kept.

THE Evening Telegraph Publishing Company has entered suit against Thomas M. Marshall, Thomas M. Bayne, J. M. Gazzam and F. M. Magee, partners with the late H. B. Swoope as a company, publishing the Sunday Times, for a debt of $3 498 53, for material, press work and money advanced for the publication of said paper.

DETECTIVES DONAVAN and Clay have succeeded in catching two men at Petrolia, supposed to be connected with the diabolical attempt to throw a train off the Parker and Karns City Railroad, on the 10th of April last. The names of the arrested parties are Terrence Clure, of Emlenton, and John Finessy, residing near Millerstown.

THE Duquesne Greys made a handsome turnout on Saturday and were as usual much admired for their soldierly appearance, good marching and fine order. The German company E, Capt. Steinmeyer, took the premium however, turning out thirty-five men. This company is one of the finest of the Greys and deserves the compliments paid it.

TWO horses, attached to a barouche, ran off on Smithfield street, Saturday afternoon, and dashing into Fifth avenue, unseated the driver, landing him on the sidewalk in front of the postoffice. A few doors below the vehicle came in contact with a lamp post, and with an ice wagon, and two other collisions was smashed in "smithereens." The horses were not much injured.

AT the annual session of the Grand Lodge of Western Pennsylvania, Ancient Order of Druids, held here last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing annual term: N. G. A., Felix Henle, Pittsburgh; D. G. A., Herman Pride, Pittsburgh; Grand Secretary, Emil Eyles, Allegheny; Grand Treasurer, Jacob Bilinger, Allegheny; Grand Marshal, William Peter, Allegheny; Grand Guard, Fred. Schaffer, Allegheny. Messrs. George Knopp, Pittsburgh (South Side), and Charles Raeder, Allegheny, were elected representatives to the Grand Lodge of the United States.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

is strongly recommended by the Medical Faculty and is largely prescribed among their female patients. It is worthy of all confidence as may be seen from the following testimonial:

ATLANTA, ILL., Jule 14, 1873.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I have not words to express my gratitude to you for your advice and assistance in my case. There is not one who has used your medicines since they have been brought here but that can say with me they have been greatly benefitted. Since I have been so helped by its use six or seven around me left off all doctors and other medicines, and now use it in their families, after being cured of the same disease as mine. You do not know what a wonder it created in our city, by its restoring my sister I wrote you about, for she had been under the care of three of our best doctors, but could not sit up but for a few minutes at one time. I begged of her to try your medicines, and before she had used half of the bottles she could go all around the yard, and has this summer come home from a visit five miles away.

MRS. THOS. McFARLAND.

DESCRIPTION OF THE JOHN S. HALL FARM.

The Sale Which Comes Off this Morning, June 1st, at 10 A. M., to Last All Day.

The Hall Farm is in the Tenth ward, Allegheny, near the terminus of the Pleasant Valley street cars; near the residence of Harvy Bollman, and late residence of Hugh S. Fleming, Esq., Dilworth and others. Laid out to 210 large lots; a West End avenue runs directly through the property; at the head of Wood's run; will be sold positively to the highest bidder. The property is within a few minutes' walk of either Western avenue or Pleasant Valley cars. The grounds are handsomely laid out.

Persons desiring fine property should attend this sale, as it is a POSITIVE SALE—NO RESERVE.

Terms—One-third down; balance, 1, 2 and 3 years.

Brass Band in attendance.

Omnibuses at terminus of street cars to carry parties to the sale.

A. J. PENTECOST, Auctioneer,
52 Diamond, Allegheny.

COMPETITION DEFIED.

Shinn's Plan of Lots at Evergreen Hamlet.

AHEAD! AHEAD! AHEAD!

The finest, the largest, the most desirable Building Lots of the season.
Location delightful and healthy.
For beauty of surroundings has no equal.

JAS. W. DRAPE & CO.,
Auctioneers.
41½ Federal street, Allegheny.

The Executor's Sale of Lots

on the Shinn property, at Evergreen Hamlet, on next Tuesday, June 2d, is the sale that, above all others, invites the special interest of all buyers of lots. It is the only executor's sale of lots that has taken place, or probably will take place this season, and will be the best sale at which to buy lots at your own price, being strictly bona fide sale, by order of the executors of the estate. A full, free and unfettered opportunity will be allowed to all to pitch in and secure a bargain.

The sublimity of the location of these lots is only equaled by the liberal terms on which they will be sold.

Free trains to and from the property.
Good lunch on the grounds.
Trains leave Federal and Chestnut streets at 11 o'clock on day of sale. Free tickets and plans of lots at office of
JAS. W. DRAPE & CO., Auctioneers,

In the above-named apparatus the wants of the trade have been carefully studied, and we now present an apparatus in which purity, strength and durability are combined with unequaled workmanship and elegance of design. Before purchasing, please call and examine our samples or send for catalogue. We are able to present many new and elegant designs, and this season have many novel features to produce never before brought out. We also deal in every article appertaining to the business, more specially a full line of extra choice fruit essences of the following flavors, in pound bottles, at low prices:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Vanilla, | Raspberry, | Ginger, |
| Lemon, | Pineapple, | Sarsaparilla, |
| Strawberry, | Orange, | Fruit Acid, |
| Orgeat, | Sherbet, | Peach, |
| Nectar, | Hock, | Rose, |
| Coffee, | Chocolate, | Blackberry. |

In an effort to produce an attractive apparatus, we have not lost sight of the essential point of a good apparatus—viz: purity of production. This has had our closest attention. Every part coming in contract with soda water or syrups is thoroughly coated with pure silver or block tin. Don't forget to call at McClarren & McKennan's drug store, No. 85 Market street, Pittsburgh.
